TEN TO 1, even 11 to 1, were bet on Coolidge yesterday. Betting gentlemen seem to feel sure about something. Does anybody remember such odds on a Presidential election?

Some that are called wise believe there is to be, permanently established, a new party, perhaps a combining of certain elements in the old parties. You will know all about it tomorrow or the next day. Meanwhile, there is nothing to worry anybody.

THE DAY before election found business men cheerful. Government bonds were high, the Liberty 3½ per cent., that pay no income tax, established a new high record.

CHICAGO IS HAVING a little private stock boom of its own. The great mail order houses announce the biggest business and greatest prosperity for years. Several of the most important Chicago stocks established new high records.

When farmers have money it pours into Chicago, and the farmers have it now.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE is consistently silent. He hasn't even said that he was perfectly sure to be elected. That's all the more creditable, because, of all candidates, he is probably the only one that DOES feel perfectly sure of his election.

The President of the United States is not expected to brag or to predict, but to sit in solemn dignity. That's a good thing for his campaign.

LOUIS SEIBOLD predicts 4,000,000 plurality for Coolidge. 3,000,000 fewer than the Harding plurality. But there was no La Follette running against Harding.

CORNELIUS COLE, who knew Abraham Lincoln well, died yesterday in Los Angeles, aged 102. He practiced law when past 100.

Newspapers always mention the death of a man that begins his second century. The time is coming when to die younger than 100 will be the exception.

Los Angeles says, "If you want to live till 102, come here."

TWO OF New York city's Fifth avenue churches will unite and build for $3,000,000 one fine big church in Fifth avenue. One clergyman will be rector, the other will be rector "emeritus."

It is interesting to see the American combination and "merger" idea spreading even to the churches.

The new church, to be opposite the Carnegie residence on Fifth avenue, will doubtless supply to many pleasant transportation from a delightful and fashionable spot on earth to an infinitely delightful spot above.

NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA should build a big monument to James B. Duke one of these days. A map of those States, with little round blue spots, each indicating a power station, shows as many of the little spots as there are flies on a crowded fly paper. Each spot indicates power sufficient to run ten thousand spindles.

Within ten years, it is said, two hundred thousand additional horsepower will be developed by Mr. Duke and put to work grinding out goods and employing labor.

THE MISTAKE of a towerman sent a coal car into a crowded trolley car, slicing off one end of it, killing ten.

The towerman admitted that he had been drinking, and a flask of moonshine whiskey backed up his statement.

The towerman will be punished, and ought to be.

What about the man that sold him the whiskey? In that case the bootlegger did not merely violate the prohibition law. He committed murder. Wouldn't it be worth while to do something about that?

FORECAST 90 P. C. VOTE IN E. BOSTON AND WINTHROP

In East Boston and Winthrop the early rush at the polls gave rise to the prediction that ninety per cent. of the registered voters would cast ballots. The number cast in East Boston before noon was almost one hundred per cent. greater than in the corresponding hours in 1920.

ASK PUBLIC TO PAY HIGH FOR PHONES

American T. & T. Shifts From Plan to Assess the P. B. X. Users; to Try Boost on All

Despite the fact that the American Telephone & Telegraph Company paid an income tax of $11,928,548 for 1923, the telephone officials have announced their intention of boosting still higher the rate of every telephone in New England.

At direct variance with the huge sum paid as excess profits, the telephone officials declare the company's poverty stricken—that more funds must be raised in New England and that telephone subscribers in Boston and elsewhere must pay more for their telephone service.

The new tariffs for Massachusetts will be filed with the Public Service Commission within the next month.

RAISE ALL AROUND.

The attempt of the telephone company to boost rates is expected to stir up a storm of protest from the public such as has never before been raised against a New England public utilities corporation's efforts to wring more money from the public.

Fought at every turn in its effort to boost rates on private branch

FIRE SCARE IN MALDEN HOSPITAL

Nurses Quiet the Patients as Flames Flare Up in Laundry

Fire endangered the safety of scores of women and infants in the Malden Maternity Hospital, Appleton and Main streets, Malden, today, and caused the assembling of apparatus from Malden and Everett.

Quick work by firemen prevented the blaze from spreading from the laundry, where it originated.

Nurses prevented a scare from spreading through the wards by assuring everyone the fire was under control.

Children's clothing, valued at about $200 was destroyed.

A nurse, Miss Robertson, discovered the fire, which began when a gas jet ignited children's clothing hanging up to dry in the laundry.

At the same time, a man who was passing the building and noticed smoke, sounded an alarm from a box located across the Everett city line.

This second alarm brought the Everett apparatus and an immense crowd of people.

Bulletins

Chicago.—One man was shot and killed, another was probably fatally wounded in a revolver fight near a polling place today. Early police reports indicated that the shooting was connected with factional trouble of a teamsters' union.

Kansas City, Mo. (N.S.)—Shortly after the polls opened today the election officials of the First Precinct in the Tenth Ward announced its vote complete. The unofficial figures of the balloting for President showed Coolidge 37, Davis 17, La Follette 1.

Worcester.—The vote here will be a record-breaking one. Between 6 o'clock and 9.30, the vote was 20 per cent. greater than it was during the same hours on Election Day, 1920.

Chicago.—In Cicero, the western race track suburb, where several shootings, fatal and otherwise, marked the Spring primaries, deputy sheriffs were on guard at the polls.

Fargo, N. D.—House to house and farm to farm canvassers are being made, while in several cities sirens and fire whistles are being used every hour of the voting time.

COOLIDGE SWEEPS NEW ASHFORD

Massachusetts led the nation today in reporting presidential election returns and Calvin Coolidge held the honors.

While the rest of the country was at breakfast telegraph wires flashed a message to all corners of the land that a Bay State town, New Ashford, in the Berkshire Hills, had voted and counted its ballots, giving twenty to Coolidge, four to Davis, and none to La Follette.

Somerset, Vt., was a close second in the race to file election returns. There were eight votes cast and all of them went to Coolidge.

OBSERVERS SEE VICTORY FOR COOLIDGE

New York, Nov. 4.—More than 30,000,000 men and women went to the polls today in the most interesting election of a generation, to choose the President of the United States for the next four years and to elect 435 Congressmen, thirty-two United States Senators and the Governors and other State officers of thirty-five States.

With fair weather prevailing in most sections of the country, a heavy vote was assured.

All surface signs point to the reelection of President Calvin Coolidge with Charles G. Dawes of Illinois as Vice-President.

By the same token, Senator Robert M. La Follette seems certain to poll an enormous popular vote, sufficient to guarantee the formation of a permanent new party.

Fighting with their backs to the

The vote in New Ashford was: Coolidge, 20; Davis, 4; La Follette, 0. The 1920 vote was: Harding, 28; Cox, 6. Coolidge gets 83.33 per cent. of the vote cast. Hardding got 82.34 per cent.

The vote of New Ashford showed a remarkable gain for United States Senator David I. Walsh. In 1922, the last senatorial election, the vote was:

Lodge (Rep.), 10.
Gaston (Dem.), 4.
Today New Ashford gave:
Gillette, (Rep.) 14.
Walsh (Dem.) 7.

The vote in New Ashford indicates that President Coolidge is not carrying the rest of the Republican ticket with him. Twenty votes were marked for Coolidge while Frederick H. Gillett, Republican candidate for the United States Senate received only fourteen votes, in the gubernatorial race Alvan T. Fuller, Republican candidate received seventeen votes.

The decrease in the New Ashford vote this year as compared to 1920 is due to a falling off in population. New Ashford has 30 registered voters, 24 of whom cast their ballots today.

Three persons remained away from the polls owing to illness and two did not care to vote. One man eligible to vote was out of town and his absentee ballot was not received while the polls were open.

Somerset gave Coolidge, 8; Davis,

GOVERNOR BROWN SPENT $1,089.64 IN CAMPAIGN

Concord, N. H., Nov. 4.—Preliminary statements of campaign receipts and expenditures by the principal candidates in today's election were made public by the secretary of the state. Gov. Fred H. Brown, candidate for re-election, reported no receipts and expenditures of $1,089.64.

His opponent, Capt. John J. Winant, reported no receipts and $356.87 expenditures. Senator Henry W. Keyes received $6,000 and spent $5,405.40. State Treasurer George E. Farrand, who is opposing Senator Keyes, received $500 and spent $771.50.

VOTE BY LANTERN LIGHT.

Lanterns and pocket flashlights illuminated the scene when New Ashford voters marked their ballots at 6 a. m. The election officials had completed the count at 6:15 a. m. Three quarters of an hour later the Somerset, Vt., voters had completed their task.

The awakening of the Atlantis Men was no more dramatic and effective than that of the citizens of New Ashford. Voters. Leading spirits of the community were determined to win glory for their home town by breaking all early voting records. So, in the dusky light of dawn, men went from house to house, shouting to those within to awake and vote. There were no laggards.

Nearly everyone in New Ashford was at the village school when the polls opened there at 6 o'clock.

The town had been aroused by the tooting and rattling of the eleven locally-owned automobiles. Nine are of a well-known Detroit make.

The voters filled in their ballots, seated at the children's desks, by the light of oil lanterns and lamps. At 6:49 the vote was all in and at 7:15 the result was announced.

New Ashford doesn't think much of daylight saving. The vote against that measure was 18 to 1. It opposes the child labor amendment. Seventeen voted against that measure and none for it.

When, by the smallest town in Hillsborough County, N. H., was the first New Hampshire town to report today. Coolidge and Dawes carried the town, receiving nine votes. Davis and Bryan received five votes. The La Follette ticket was blank. In the vote for Governor, Captain John G. Winant, Republican, received eight votes to six votes for Governor Fred H. Brown, Democrat.

HEAVY IN BOSTON.

While New Ashford and Somerset, Vermont, were making history, the great avalanche of votes began to move in Boston and all other cities and towns. Election clerks found crowds at the doors of the polling places and soon there were long lines of men and women waiting for ballots.

In Lexington, Peabody and Danvers it snowed as the trek to the polls began. All other points reported favorable weather.

A shower of white stickers was passed out by supporters of Peter F. Tague in Precinct 3 of the fifth ward, Boston. Tague is running for Congress on stickers, but it was evident that Boss Martin Lomasney had given definite instructions about what to do with the stickers, for they were cast into the street until the pavement was covered with white bits of paper.

In all of the "great crowds" reports that came from Greater Boston districts, Somerville won greatest prominence. The fact that the polls close in that city at 4 p. m. had much to do with the early voting, as the great majority of citizens are compelled to vote before going to work. At the third precinct, Second Ward, there was a large throng of voters when the booth opened. The Prescott School, Ward 1, Precinct 2, was another great mobilization point.

NEW HIGH MARK

In Boston Election Commissioner Frank Sieberlich predicted that a heavy voting record that will stand for many years would be established as he surveyed the tremendous activity. The total list of 245,000 establishes a new high mark and at the rate that men and women assembled by foot and in all manner of vehicles, supplied by candidates, it seemed certain that more than ninety per cent. of its registered voters would make use of their privilege of marking ballots

The voting machines in Boston went into action as early as 3 a. m. when a fleet of twenty-six motor trucks started out from City Hall to distribute 274 ballot boxes and 500,000 ballots. An army of 2,192 election officers were on duty when the polls opened.

In Arlington the sounding of the No School signal on the fire alarm aroused voters and gave the cue for the procession to the voting places.

Mayor Curley astonished Boston by staging rallies throughout today, disregarding all political precedent. Whirling about the city and visiting all of the twenty-six wards, the Mayor addressed all voters who would stop to listen to him and shouted his message and pleas for support at those who hurried away, too busy to listen to mor campaign speeches. The Mayor delared that he would continue to speak "up to the minute the polls clos. It is a new experiment in political psychology and other candidates are watching its effect with interest.

Confusion concerning the opening hour at the polling booths caused many Quincy residents to lose their votes. Scores of voters appeared at the booths between 6 a. m. and 8 a. m. and found the booths closed. They learned that the voting hours would be from 8 a. m. to 8p. m. The disappointed ones declared that they had read that the polling places would be open at 6 o'clock and that the later opening would prevent them from voting.

BROOKLINE.

Brookline voters broke al records in the number of early morning ballots cast. The polls opened at 7 o'clock. Within an hour and a half more than 300 votes had been cast at the P ierce School, Precinct 3. At 9 o'clock more than 250 had voted at Devotion School, Precincts 1 and 2, and 400 men and women were in line.

In the first half-hour of voting at Gardner Hall, Precinct 7, seventy-eight ballots had been cast.

About 90 per cent. of the total registered vote is expected by election officials. The total registration of the town is 18,000 and the women exceed men voters by 780. The total registration is about 2,000 more than four years ago and approximately 3,500 more than in the primaries last September.

It was predicted that the gasoline tax referendum would be defeated by Brookline voters, although the selectmen have expressed disapproval of the measure.

Although the presidential issue, the Fuller-Curley gubernatorial struggle and the Gillett-Walsh senatorial match overshadow all other contests here, the voters will watch the fate of many other candidates whose names are on the State ballot.

COOLIDGE TO HEAR RETURNS BY RADIO

Washington, Nov. 4.—The usual calm of voteless Washington prevailed today at the White House as the nation went to the polls.

President and Mrs. Coolidge made out their votes on absentee voters' ballots and mailed them to Northampton, their home, last week and little was left for the President to do today except to attend to the routine of his office.

Tonight, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, will receive election returns sent over special wires. It is expected the radio set in the White House will be used for following the count.

SURVIVOR OF LIGHT BRIGADE CASTS VOTE

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 4.—Ellis Cattin, believed here to be the last survivor of the immortal Light Brigade, cast his last vote today. It was for Coolidge and Dawes. He is dying from parlysis and physicians said he probably would not be here to learn whether his vote had helped elect the Republican candidates. It was an absent voter's ballot, brought to his bedside.

Snow in Lexington Not Enough to Tie Up Voters

It snowed in Lexinton but not enough to keep voters from flocking to the polls.

The brief snowfall occurred at about a quarter to five and it was over long before the polls opened at six o'clock.

Contests to Watch as Returns Come In

When the State election returns roll in tonight WATCH FOR

The result of the Curley-Fuller battle.

The outcome of the Gillett-Walsh clash.

The sentiment of the voters on the Child Labor question.

The total of votes polled by Peter F. Tague after his single-handed fight against Martin Lomasney.

The vote on the question of enforcing Federal dry laws through local officers.

In the nation, watch for:

The size of the La Follette vote. Is it large enough to launch a genuine third party in preparation for the Congressional elections of 1926?

Who gets the eighteen electoral votes of Missouri, the thirteen of Iowa, the fifteen of Indiana, the thirteen of California, the seven of Washington?

The senatorial fight in Rhode Island between Governor William S. Flynn and Jesse H. Metcalf.

What the voters do to "Ma" Ferguson in Texas.

"Jack" Walton's effort to stage a comeback in Oklahoma. The former Governor aspires to the United States Senate. His opponent, a millionaire oil man, has the backing of the Ku Klux Klan.

TAGUE AVERTS CLASH OVER 'STICKERS'

What threatened to be a serious complication early today was straightened out by Congressman Peter F. Tague at the voting booth in the Christopher Columbus School, Precinct 1, Ward 5. Lomasney sympathizers resented the use of stickers by Tague supporters. There was sinister mumbling until Tague appeared. He hustled to City Hall and was assured by Election Commissioner Sieberlich that use of the stickers was legal. Tague then went back and explained the situation to the precinct officers, so the dispute was adjusted without disorder.

HUNDREDS FIND NAMES OFF HUB LIST

Several hundred citizens of Boston complained today to the Election Commissioners at City Hall Annex that their names had been mysteriously removed from the voting lists since last year and that they could not cast ballots today. The same explanation awaited all.

The clerks explained that policemen visited all houses on or about April 1 for information as to residents. In case the informants neglected to give a person's name, that name was crossed off the lists. The commissioners declare it is the duty of every citizen to make sure in advance of election that their names are on the list.

ELECTION TO COST CHICAGO MILLION

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Chicago, with more than 1,000,000 eligible voters, is expected by election officials to send more than $50,000 of them to the polls.

More than 10,000,000 ballots were distributed to the city's 2,233 voting places today and it was announced that the election will cost Chicago about $1,000,000.

NATION'S VOTE EXPECTED TO SET RECORD

wall, with John W. Davis of New York and West Virginia as their standard-bearer, the Democrats hope to avert a defeat which would crush their historic party, now wrecked and almost abandoned in the West and threatened with destruction by La Follette in the East.

In New York, one of the vital, pivotal States, in which all three parties concentrated their campaigns in the closing hours, the Republicans asserted that Mr. Coolidge will approach the million majority received by Mr. Harding four years ago and that young Colonel Roosevelt will be elected Governor by 250,000.

Governor Smith claimed that he will be reelected by 400,000. Although privately despairing of a Democratic national victory here, the Democratic chiefs said publicly that Mr. Davis will "run well" with Governor Smith.

The La Follette people are confident that New York will give the Wisconsin Senator a rousing vote, despite the shift of some labor leaders to Davis within the last few days.

Regardless of the claims of the professional politicians, the indications are that President Coolidge will sweep the East to such an extent that he will need but four Western States, normally Republican, to give him the majority of the electoral college.

SEE 300 VOTES.

If the Eastern sweep continues through the West with any degree of success, he will receive far more than 300 votes in the college. The total necessary to win is 266.

Eight pivotal States, east of the Mississippi and north of the solid south, hold the key to the situation. They are New York, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, New Jersey, West Virginia, Maryland and Tennessee. President Coolidge doubtless will carry five of them and may win them all. Without some of the larger ones, Davis cannot win. La Follette seems to be injuring him in those States more seriously than he is hurting President Coolidge.

By capturing the usually reliable Republican States of California, Kansas, Utah and Oregon, the President will have a total of 267 electoral college votes, or more than a majority. If he wins those Western States in which the battle is between himself and La Follette and in which he is now said to have the edge because of late-hour trends to him, he will have a total electoral college vote exceeded only in recent years by the Harding landslide of 1920.

SALEM IS PUZZLED BY POLITICAL EGG BARRAGE

Historic Salem staggered today under the weight of an election egg mystery. Republican leaders are at a loss to account for an egg barrage directed at Joseph Simon, chairman of the Republican City Committee, while speaking at an open-air rally in Town House square. Simon, a former newsboy and now a wealthy real estate operator, saw them coming and ducked in time, but the faces of innocent spectators were smeared and the millinery of a woman party leader was damaged. At 10 a. m. a total of 2,389 votes had been cast in the city, which was 89 less than in 1920 at the same hour.

CANTON SPLIT BY DISCHARGE OF OLD-TIME SCHOOL TEACHER

CHANCE FOR PENSION KILLED

Former Pupils Among Those Who Oppose the Reinstatement of Ellen G. Clarke

Canton, Nov. 4.—A woman sixty years old, and for forty years a school teacher here, until discharged without explanation by the School Committee, has thrown town politics into a turmoil.

She is Miss Ellen G. Clarke. As teacher and later principal of the Eliot School she taught three generations of some Canton families and two generations of many others.

Some of those instrumental in having her removed were her pupils long ago. Others who demand her reinstatement and exoneration also studied in her classrooms.

GREAT FAVORITE

She was born in Canton and served here during her entire career as a teacher. She was a great favorite with the parents of her pupils in the Eliot School district.

In a short time, had she not been discharged, Miss Clarke would have been eligible for a pension. This and her general popularity has caused a commotion that is expected to affect both school committeemen and selectmen in the next town election in March.

Party lines are generally strictly adhered to in town elections here. Even candidates for school committee are named at party caucuses and bear the old party labels, Republican or Democrat.

REPUBLICANS BLAMED.

The terms of four Republican members of the school committee expire next March and the Republican majority is blamed for the removal of Miss Clarke.

Miss Clarke was given no reason for her discharge. She had been ill, but had recovered and finished the year by taking her graduating class on an outing to Nantasket. She succeeded as principal of the Eliot School by a married woman, Mrs. Lulu N. Hiford, a member of the opposite political faith.

'KIDNAPED' BOY HOME AGAIN WITH MOTHER

FIGURES IN DIVORCE TANGLE

Two-year-old Wilbur McK. Fisher, his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Fisher, of Roxbury, and his father, Wilbur Fisher, accused of stealing him.

MRS. FISHER BRINGS HOME LOST CHILD

Kidnaped from in front of the Roxbury home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Fisher, August 6, and carried away in an automobile, Wilbur M Fisher, two years old, is once more back with her.

Secreted in a Montreal baby farm in the poorer section of the Canadian city and with none other than French-speaking people to minister to and comfort him, the boy was located by Mrs. Fisher.

The mother and child, after a thirty-hour drive by automobile, arrived at the Roxbury home, No. 17 Glenwood street.

Wilbur H. Fisher, former North Cambridge druggist, father of the child, is charged with the kidnaping jointly with Stephen C. Bresnahan, Cambridge lawyer and constable.

Bresnahan is now out on bail under indictment, but the authorities have not apprehended Fisher.

At the time the child was taken, he was in the custody of his mother through temporary decree of the Middlesex court, pending hearing in a divorce suit brought by Mrs. Fisher.

In the midst of the mother's search for the child, Mrs. Fisher, on Sept. 24, was granted a decree nisi in her divorce suit by Judge Sanderson, the husband or counsel for him, failing to appear to contest the wife's charges of cruel and abusive treatment.

BEDTIME STORY WRITER PAYS $20,181 TAX

The writing of bedtime stories is every bit as lucrative as the composition of bedroom farces. If you doubt it, consider the income tax paid this year by Thornton W. Burgess, who is about as widely-read an author of prose lullabies as there is in the business.

As a result of his chronicles of the activities of Mister Possum, Aloysius Squirrel and their fellows, Mr. Burgess handed over to the government no less than $20,181.71 income tax. These figures were agreed with difficulty from the "red-taped" ledgers in the office of Collector Malcolm Nichols.

Amor Hollingsworth of Milton, paper manufacturer and owner of vast timber lands, paid $12,164.19. Antonio Albiani, owner of a string of restaurants, paid $2,669.81, and the Moxie Company paid $16,668.82.

Other payers whose names were made public are:

Robert G. Larsen, theatrical manager	1,109.29
David W. Huntley, garage owner	842.65
P. D. Rand, grocer	523.05
David A. Scott, laundry owner	470.87
Roland M. Baker, postmaster	364.15
Max Keezer, clothing dealer	113.88
James A. Kiley, wagon manufacturer	82.90
F. I. Perkins, Brookline grocer	55.08
Uphams Corner Market	12,164.54

CHOIR SINGER IS SELF-CONFESSED RAFFLES

Washington, Nov. 4.—Francis Winfield Hart, twenty-four years old, a singer in a church choir and living in the apartment of his pastor, was arrested by police here today and accused of a long series of "jimmy" robberies, which have been keeping the northwest section of the city on edge.

Police declare Hart admitted committing a dozen robberies, and Eley also said loot estimated to be worth $15,000 was found in his room.

The Rev. Meade B. MacBryde, in whose home Hart lived, said the latter, after a disagreement a month ago with his parents, had sought his assistance and that he had taken him under his own roof and had meanwhile interested himself in obtaining work for him.

IPSWICH GIRL KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Peabody, Nov. 4.—Ethel Light, fourteen years old, of Linebrook road, Ipswich, died at the J. B. Thomas Hospital today from injuries received in an automobile accident on the Newburyport Turnpike. She suffered a fractured rib and a punctured lung in the crash.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Light, parents of the dead girl, are receiving treatment at the hospital. Mr. Light has a fractured rib and his wife has multiple bruises. Two other children of the family were sent to their home for treatment for bruises.

A car operated by Light collided with a furniture truck which had been abandoned by its driver after it became disabled. The Lights family were going to their home in Ipswich from Boston when the accident happened.

HIGHER PHONE RATE SOUGHT BY COMPANY

Corporation Which Paid Income Tax of $11,928,-548 Pleads Poverty

telephone exchanges in Massachusetts, the telephone company has abandoned this fight.

Instead of increasing the rates of only the private branch exchange patrons, the company will now seek to force every telephone user on its New England lines to pay higher rates.

No guarantees of any improvement in the service are carried in the company's announcement of its intention to file higher rates.

MOVE UNEXPECTED.

In fact, the company fails to take any cognizance of the atrocious local and long-distance service rendered in Boston and vicinity in its brief note to the public. The note simply tells telephone users to get ready to pay more money for the same brand of service that is now driving them to distraction.

The move of the telephone company was unexpected. In view of the indifferent service rendered in every exchange office in Greater Boston, and the particularly poor service even in those districts where automatic telephone service has been installed, it was generally believed by telephone subscribers that the company officials were interested in improving service, rather than seeking to squeeze more money from the long-suffering patrons of the company.

What sentiment opposing the attempted boost in telephone rates has not yet crystalized, the best legal talent, it is understood, will be employed to oppose the company's claim. Expert engineers will also be employed to represent the telephone users and every effort will be made to prove to the satisfaction of the Public Service Commission that the telephone company is already overpaid for the service it renders in New England.

REASONS FOR BOOST.

Following is the notice issued by the company, of its intention to boost rates:

"On April 1, 1924, the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company filed with your honorable commission changes in the schedules of rates applicable to certain limited classes of telephone service furnished by it with a view to increasing the revenue of the company. Our net earnings had for two or three years shown a declining tendency and at that time were insufficient to provide for the dividend requirements.

"At the first hearing upon these rate schedules the president of the company testified that the increased revenues which might be derived from the proposed changes would be inadequate to meet the needs of the company.

"A situation prevailed, however which made it difficult to determine at that time just what the company ought to have in the way of additional revenue because of the fact that our operating accounts for the year 1923 had been very greatly disturbed by reason of a serious strike of telephone operators which took place in the Summer of the year.

LABOR COST DOUBLED.

"Our net telephone earnings during the first three quarters of the year 1924 have been at the rate of less than 3.9 per cent upon the book value of our plant and equipment and still less upon the real value. The prospect for next year and the following years is no better unless additional revenue shall be obtained from increased rates.

"In the past ten years the cost of labor required in building and operating our plant has doubled and the cost of supplies used by the company is substantially 50 per cent higher. Living costs in Massachusetts, which means the prices of commodities and services which people generally use, as computed by the public authorities, are about 60 per cent higher than the pre war costs but during that period the charges for telephone service have increased on the average less than 15 per cent in our New England territory.

Chemical Process Shows Filed-off Auto Numbers

A new chemical process by which numbers of stolen automobile engines, even though these have been filed off, was revealed in Municipal Court by Sergeant Timothy J. Sheehan of the police headquarters automobile department. The revelation was made during the trial of Frank Tomlo, a Dorchester garage man, charged with receiving a stolen car.

Sergeant Sheehan said that he had established the original number of the car's engine by the use of the new chemical formula, though it had been effaced and a new number imposed. Tomlo was found guilty and given a twelve-month's sentence. He appealed.

FORMER POLICE CHIEF IS GIVEN YEAR IN JAIL

Lure of the city's white lights led pretty Phoebe Sirois of Holden, Me., into serious difficulties ending with her appearance in court today.

Charles Willette, thirty-two, former chief of police of Oldtown, and Henry Sirois, the girl's brother, arraigned in connection with the girl's flight from home, were harshly lectured by Judge Michael Murray, who gave Willette a year in the House of Correction and fined Sirois $25.

Willette and the girl, the police alleged, were living as "Mr. and Mrs. King" in a lodging house in the South End.

Their arraignment today followed days of investigation on the part of Mrs. Dorina Willette, wife of the former chief.

When the couple were taken into custody the girl pointed to Willette and said:

"That man is my husband. We were married in New Haven two years ago."

Willette scowled and replied:

"That's a lie. She is not my wife. There is Mrs. Willette (pointing to his wife.)

In court today Judge Murray was surprised when the girl's brother testified for the former police chief, that he had signed the register with Willette and his sister.

The court instructed Sergeant Winn to swear out a warrant charging Sirois with violation of the "true name" law. Sirois was then fined $25.

The girl was found guilty and placed on probation for a year on the condition that she consent to going to the House of the Good Shepherd in Roxbury.

LEBON AGAIN REFUSED FULL PENSION

The latest step of the Boston School Committee in refusing to grant a $1,000 pension to Charles F. Lebon, retired English High school teacher, has aroused much protest that the committee will likely be mandamused.

Friends of the professor, who gave thirty-five years of his life to Boston schools, are planning to carry the matter into court and force the payment of the pension as provided by special act of the Massachusetts Legislature.

Disregarding the storm of indignation that has arisen following their refusal to pay the retired teacher more than $6 a month on which to live, the Committee, in a prepared statement, declares that the trust fund of more than half a million dollar held for pension purposes "cannot be touched now by the School Committee."

The Boston corporation counsel, legal advisor of the School Committee, has already directed that Mr. Lebon be paid $1,800 a year for the pension fund, as provided by the act of legislature. The counsel's advice is disregarded, however, by the mandamus if the only course left open to Mr. Lebon to secure his pension.

For thirty-five years the instructor taught in the English high school and is known and beloved by thousands of graduates of that school. When he retired the pension allowance was only $50 a month, but subsequently the pension for similar retirements was increased to $1,800. To enable Mr. Lebon to enjoy the higher pension the act was passed by the legislature and approved by the governor.

Joseph Fiona, twenty years old, of No. 206 West Third street, South Boston, was bound over in South Boston court to the grand jury in $5500 bond on charge of breaking and entering the business establishment of Joseph Goodman at No. 221 Broadway, South Boston. The police believe Fiona had an accomplice and expect to take more arrests during the day.

WIFE LAUGHS AT LOVE AFFAIR OF WOOD

Winchester Mother of Three Is Amused by Burning Words of Her Rival

Surrounded by three happy children in her Winchester home, Mrs. Ruth Cheney Wood laughed heartily today at the love claim made on her husband, Chandler Mason Wood, by Miss Theresa Whalen of New York.

Wood, prominent in legal, financial and political circles, and at one time mentioned as a Democratic vice-presidential possibility, is being sued for divorce on grounds of unfaithfulness.

Mrs. Wood is nearly as prominent as her husband; she has toured the State speaking in political campaigns and takes active part in every election.

With her children, Marjorie, eight; Chandler Mason, Jr., five, and Philip, three, she lives in the mansion at No. 12 Sheffield road, Winchester.

Wood has fled to New York, leaving behind him, according to his friends, the wreck of a glorious career.

Trainer Asks Court to Change Name to "Hugh Manity"

Lynn, Nov. 4.—Wonders will never cease!

William John Shanahan, a resident of this city, petitioned the court to change his name to "Hugh Manity." His reason is that it will help advertise his business.

Shanahan was born in New York, but has spent the past few years in this city.

In her charge, he named as corespondent by Mrs. Wood.

Miss Whalen's only comment is: "I wouldn't gave a ——— if Chandler didn't have a dime. I love him and am not ashamed of it. Chas and I are willing to face the music."

Refusing to discuss her divorce action, refusing even a word about her husband, Mrs. Wood only shows her interest by listening politely and laughing.

5 CHILDREN SAVE MAN FROM TERM IN JAIL

"Your five children saw you from three months in jail," declared Judge Malcolm E. Sturtevant of the Somerville court today when disposing of the case of Frank M. Collins was fined $5 on the first count of a large fifth avenue store charge and $50 on the second.

Hearing in the case of Mrs. Marion A. Fisteen of Beverly and her star boarder, George W. Plummer, Jr., on a first degree murder charge of killing the woman's husband, Fred H. Fisteen, was today continued for the third time in Salem District Court, this time until November 11.

Although the prosecution was not ready to proceed because of the condition of Chief of Police William B. Davidson, recently injured in an automobile accident, the request for further delay today was made by Attorney M. J. Reardon, counsel for Mrs. Fisteen, and was promptly granted by Judge Sears.

Former District Attorney William McSweeney, counsel for Plummer, announced that new developments would follow the appointment of a Beverly police officer to probe certain phases requested by the defence.

SOLDIERS GUARD BALLOTS AT LAS VEGAS

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 4.—Martial law was proclaimed in San Miguel County, of which Las Vegas is the county seat, by Governor J. F. Hinkle, who is in Santa Fe to have gubernatorial powers, said:

"There is going to be an honest election in San Miguel County, even if troops are necessary to supervise the polls. I mean to see that the people have the opportunity to vote without intimidation. . . .

"The troops . . . will be on duty until the boxes containing the ballots have been returned to the courthouse."

Reports that United States Marshal Romero, Republican, has been swearing in extra deputy marshals resulted in protests being sent by United States Senator A. A. Jones and Congressman John Morrow to Attorney-General Stone in Washington, alleging unwarranted interference with the election.

The decision to send troops here was due, it was announced, to arrests over the suspension recently by D. J. Leahy, county judge, of Sheriff Lorenzo Delgado.

Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Campaign cards which were distributed anonymously here urging voters to support a list of candidates said to be favorable to the Ku Klux Klan led to much discussion and considerable confusion as voters went to the polls today. Party workers in the Republican ranks obtained several thousand of these cards today and reported them, stating that following a vote against their own party ballots listed on the original cards

EXILED R. I. SENATORS HOPEFUL OF RE-ELECTION

Rutland, Nov. 4.—Not even the prospect of casting good Republican votes was sufficient to lure the nineteen Republican Rhode Island Senators from their exile here. Their wives went back to Rhode Island to cast their ballots, but the senators, thirteen of whom are up for re-election today, remained at a hotel here where they have been living since last June.

Warrants for their arrest were issued by Lieut. Gov. Toupin of Rhode Island after the "pay-heavy occurrence in the Rhode Island Senate."

The thirteen who seek re-election were hopeful that their stand would be enforced by the voters.

LA FOLLETTE VOTES; IS SILENT ON RESULT

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—Senator Robert M. La Follette went down to the polls with his son, Robert and Philip, and cast his ballot. Then he went back home and passed the day talking over local affairs.

"The campaign is over and I am not worried," he said, with a kindly smile. "It will be several days before the results are definitely known and I am satisfied to wait. I have been working hard and this is my vacation."

G. O. P. EXPECTS ANOTHER SEAT IN CONGRESS

As Massachusetts voters left the polls today in an early parade to the polls, both Republican and Democrat leaders hoped to add to their strength in the national House by the elections of congressmen in eleven Massachusetts districts.

Republican leaders modestly predicted that they would gain one seat in today's election.

Democratic leaders, with remarkable optimism, declared they will gain four seats.

It is in the seventh district that the Republicans expect to make their single gain. There Charles A. Littlefield of Lynn, Republican, is opposing the re-election of Congressman William P. Connery, Jr., also of Lynn, Democrat.

Four years ago, in the Harding sweep, the Republicans carried this district by about 2,000 votes, electing Robert S. Maloney of Lawrence over Congressman Connery. F. Phelan of Lynn, who had served for several years.

The Republicans depend upon a Coolidge tendency to draw this district back into line again.

THREE-CORNERED AND EVEN.

Here there is a triangular battle with the candidates evenly matched, in the opinion of political students.

The contestants are George H. Stobbs, Republican; William H. Dyer, Democrat; Michael T. Flaherty, Independent-Progressive, all of Worcester. The vacancy occurs because of the retirement of Congressman Samuel E. Winslow. This battle will be closely watched.

In the first district Congressman Allen T. Treadway is running for re-election. His opponent is Thomas F. Cassidy of Chelsea. Two years ago this candidate . . . st won election to Congress . . . ning just 700 votes behind Treadway. This year he believed he had strengthened his following and was eager for another try at Treadway's seat.

When Speaker Gillett removed to run for the Senate he left a vacancy in the Second District. This vacancy is being battled for by George R. Churchill of Amherst, member of the State Senate, and Joseph E. Kerigan of Springfield, Democrat.

Frank H. Foss of Fitchburg, chairman of the Republican State committee, is the Republican candidate for Congress from the Third District. He is opposed by ex-Representative Alfred L. Lamoureux of Southbridge, Democrat.

Congressman John Jacob Rogers of Lowell is confident of re-election in the Fifth District. The Democrats, however, expect their candidate, Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell to make the fight a hard one.

Congressman A. Piatt Andrew of Gloucester is the only Massachusetts congressional candidate who is unopposed. The Democrats failed to name a candidate against him, as the district is so strongly Republican.

WHERE BATTLINGS . . .

Harry J. Thayer, Wakefield, Republican, is matched against Daniel F. Leahy of Cambridge, Democrat, for election . . . seat.

Eighth District. The vacancy here was caused by the retirement of Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger, who ran for the Republican nomination for United States Senator and was beaten.

In the Ninth District, Congressman Charles L. Underhill, of Somerville is opposed by Arthur D. Healey, Democrat, also of Somerville. Two years ago Underhill defeated Healey by about 10,000 votes. He expects to repeat that performance today.

A nearby scrap has been carried on in the Tenth District, where the candidates are James R. Mc . . . rea Boston, for many years a Democrat but now the Republican candidate; Congressman Peter F. Tague, Democrat, and Thomas J. Giblin, of East Boston, running as a La Follette Independent. Maguire has the support of Martin Lomasney, who has

Coolidge's Father Casts First Vote in Home Town

Plymouth, Vt., Nov. 4.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the President, was the first voter when the polls opened at 10 o'clock today in this town, the President's birthplace. Colonel Coolidge entered the hall at Plymouth Union accompanied by his housekeeper, Aurora Pierce. He had refused offers by several persons to drive him in an auto over the mile of hilly road from his house, and hitched up his horse and buggy and drove to the hall, accompanied by the housekeeper.

There the two ballots were dosited in boxes imprivised from butter pails. It is a tradition in Plymouth that Colonel Coolidge shall cast the first ballot on election day. There are 214 registered voters in town, one-half of them women.

sought to dominate its district for several years.

Congressman George Holden Tinkham, Republican, expects little opposition in the Eleventh District, where he is running for reelection against ex-Representative Timothy J. Driscoll. Voters of the Twelfth District are expected to defeat Congressman James A. Gallivan. His Republican opponent is Howard A. Morton.

Congressmen Robert Luce of Waltham, in the Thirteenth District who was unopposed two years ago this year is opposed by Edwin F. Sisia, Democrat, of Bellingham. Congressman Louis A. Frothingham of Easton, in the Fourteenth District has the same opponent he had two years ago, David W. Murray, Democrat.

Robert M. Leach of Taunton, Republican, is aligned against William H. Looney of Fall River, Democrat, in the Fifteenth District.

Congressman Charles L. Gifford of Barnstable has two opponents in the Sixteenth District. They are John H. Buckley, Jr., Democrat, of New Bedford, and Alvin C. Rose of Middleboro, Independent-Progressive.

Sidelights on Election

Balloting was heavy during the morning hours in strong Republican voting precincts in Brookline. In one precinct, where the registration is 1,800, more than 1,100 ballots had been cast before noon.

Mayor Curley with his wife cast their ballots just before noon at the polling place in Ward22, Precinct 9, a strong Republicanprecinct.

Seeing the opportunity presented through the death of lepresentative William Canty of Ward 15, James Plain, Charles P. Dunln, Democrat, defeated in the primaries, sought election on stickers introduced by his friends. William F Madden also sought election on stickers in Representative Canty's place. The name of the young member of the house who died yesterday appeared on the ballot as Democratic nominee.

In Ward 13, where te population is largely colored, James F. Gleason, Democrat, defeats in the primaries, is running on stickers.

Voting started with brush in Brookline at an early hour. Shortly before noon the warden of the polling place in Ward 23 Precinct 1 telephoned to the election commissioner in Boston that 60 ballots had been cast. The total registration in this precinct is 1,276. Activity at that voting booth was typical of all the other booths in thedistrict.

COOLIDGE SEES 20 MAJORITY IN HOUSE

Washington, Nov. 4.—President Coolidge expects a vote in the Electoral College of at least 350 and a Republican working majority in the House next session of twenty or more, it was said today at the White House.

The estimate is based on reports from Chairman Butler of the National Committee. The working majority expected is exclusive of the insurgent group.

Friends of the president who visited the White House today, said they found Mr. Coolidge well satisfied with the conduct of the campaign and feeling that no apologies were necessary, regardless of the outcome. The President also believed exercises had been cut down and scrutinized more closely than ever before.

A veritable flood of messages greeted Mr. Coolidge upon his arrival at the executive offices. Those giving early returns from New England were handed to him before he had breakfast.

Among the telegrams was one from Chauncey W. Depew of New York, veteran Republican leader, extending "Cordial congratulations on an unusual victory."

The usual conference with Director Lord of the budget was held by the President, more than an hour being devoted to a discussion of next year's appropriations.

All the Parties Claim Control of New House

New York, Nov. 4 (I.N.S.).—Political control of the new House of Representatives for the sixty-ninth Congress was in doubt today as Republican and Democratic leaders each claimed a working majority.

The La Follette managers insisted they would retain the balance of power seized in the present House by their sixteen members.

There are more than 1,000 candidates for the 435 House membership, in some States there are five or six candidates for each Congressional seat.

Wisconsin, where ten Progressives and one Socialist are running as La Follette men, they are viewed Progressive candidates as follows:

Massachusetts, 3; Pennsylvania, 3; Idaho, 1; New Mexico, 1; New York 1.

The Farmer-Labor party has candidates for each of the ten seats from Minnesota; two in Illinois; one in Montana.

In the latter State there are also two independent and ten third party candidates.

Walsh Men See Victory in New Ashford Gains

The returns from New Ashford were particularly pleasing to supporters of Senator David I. Walsh, who declared they indicated a sweeping victory for him.

The vote today showed a gain for Senator Walsh over 1922 of 75 per cent., which his supporters say means a State-wide vote of 700,000.

His opponent, Gillett, showed a gain of only 40 per cent., which means a total vote of only about 550,000, Walsh's supporters declared.

They stated the New Ashford vote for Senator Walsh was significant inasmuch as the town is normally as hidebound a Republican district as any community in Massachusetts.

Fair Weather; Heavy Vote in All States Assured

Washington, Nov. 4. — In practically every section of the United States, save the north Pacific coast and New England and northern New York, fair weather prevailed today, according to the Weather Bureau.

The weather factor assures the heaviest vote that ever has been polled in the nation's history.

East of the Mississippi (and here the crux of the contest occurs) the generally fair weather prevailed, though unsettled conditions were reported in New York State and New England. Both are strongly Republican.

Throughout the South it was fair day.

SMITH CLAIMS 400,000 IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 4 (I.N.S.).—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and Governor Alfred E. Smith, Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor, rested on the side lines today at the end of a bitter campaign and waited for victory.

Democratic State leaders continued to predict Smith would win by a majority of 400,000, while Republicans were insisting Roosevelt would be elected Governor by at least 200,000.

GUARDSMEN AT HERRIN TO PREVENT VOTE CLASH

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 4.—Seventy-five National Guardsmen, some with fixed bayonets, patrolled Williamson County today to prevent threatened clashes at the polls between the Ku Klux Klan and its opponents. Heavy voting was reported, with no semblance of disorder. At each precinct outside of Herrin two militiamen were stationed to keep the crowds moving.

SPRINGFIELD SMASHES RECORDS IN EARLY VOTE

Springfield, Nov. 4.—An early hour outpouring of voters unprecedented in the memory of old party workers was recorded today, giving rise to the prediction that this city may cast 90 per cent. of its total registration. In many precincts long lines were formed in the first hour the polls were open. Women voters outnumbered the men in some instances. Senator Frederick H. Gillett, Republican candidate for United States Senator, was among the voters of the early morning.

She Threw Away Calomel and took Beecham's Pills

"I felt so miserable," said the young woman cashier in a fashionable New Jersey hotel. "A friend suggested calomel and I was a fool to take it.

"Another friend noticed the calomel on my desk and cautioned me against it. She said her sister took calomel and ate some fruit and the combination 'salivated' her—loosened some of her teeth and made her very sick.

"Fearing that my stomach might be in an acid condition, I bought a 25c box of Beecham's Pills and took a dose. The next day I felt fine and I haven't needed anything during the three weeks since.

"I wouldn't take anything but Beecham's now. Some of the other girls here take Beecham's and all say they are wonderful."

WOMAN OF 80 RECORDS HER FIRST VOTE

Man of 90 Is Induced to Get Out After 20 Years by North End Workers

Aged men and women who had not voted for years and girls who have just reached voting age were hurried to the polls early today in Ward 3 in a fleet of automobiles working in Democratic interests.

A woman of eighty years was helped out of an automobile in front of the polling booth in Parmenter street, North End, in Precinct 5. She voted for the first time and carried her honors like a veteran.

At the same polling place, Peter Biscutti, ninety years old, of No. 28 Cooper street, voted for the first time in a score of years. He voted a straight Democratic ticket.

The rival workers for John J. Douglass and Peter F. Tague, candidates for Congress, caused excitement by their presence in force at the booths. Tague, defeated in the primaries for the Democratic nomination, is running on stickers and had a dozen men at each booth with the necessary slips of papers.

Curley ran far ahead of his opponent in the early vote in Ward 3, Precinct 5.

Candidates for the House, John F. Fitzgerald, Felix A. Marcella and Dr. Bernard Finkelstein, also had workers out in force.

MRS. BEATRICE RUDNICK

man, who has developed a large part of Commonwealth avenue and Brookline.

Mr. Ansen is the son of David and Lena Ansen. His father is president of the Royal Textile Company, with offices in Chauncy street.

The couple will be married by Rabbi Abraham Epstine of the Crawford street synagogue. They will be attended by John Ansen and Miss Emma Ansen, brother and sister of the bridegroom. Twenty other couples also will wait on the bridal pair.

Miss Rudnick is widely known in Brookline, where she has lived the greater part of her life. She is a graduate of the Chamberlain School of Expression and La Salle Seminary. She is an accomplished musician.

Mr. Ansen is a graduate of Dartmouth College, class of '23, and has been associated with his father in the textile business. After the ceremony he plans to enter the Rudnick real estate firm.

Following the ceremony the couple will leave on their honeymoon, which will be passed in New York, San Francisco, Denver and Washington.

Republicans Fighting to Beat Davis in Own Precinct

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 4 (Universal).—Fighting bitterly to keep John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President, from carrying his home precinct here, where members of his family have voted for generations, local Republicans will challenge his absent voter's ballot sent here from New York by Mrs. Julia Davis Adams, daughter of the nominee.

A Republican official told today of the plans to challenge Mrs. Adams' vote, saying that he was not in accord with the movement, since it is her first vote.

Mrs. Adams came home from Denmark just after the campaign opened to help her father, and as he is a first voter he has been engaged in organizing first voters' clubs throughout the country. The action of Republican leaders in dinging out her ballot for a challenge has aroused much unfavorable comment here.

16 Die in British Wreck

Liverpool, Nov. 4.—Sixteen persons were killed and forty injured when the Liverpool express to Blackpool was wrecked early today near Lytham. Several prominent Lancashire business men were among the casualties.

KLAN ISSUES CIRCULARS AT POLLS

Haverhill, Nov. 4.—Ku Klux Klan preference in the election are in a circular which was distributed about City Hall today.

The entire Republican ticket receives the blanket endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan, according to the circular, but in paragraphs devoted to discussion of several local candidates preference is shown by the Klansmen for men who are running for office in the Independent-Progressive group.

No effort was made to stop the KKK circular distribution and thousands were issued.

Local voters were asked in the circular to vote for Dr. James D. McVey, Independent-Progressive, in preference to J. Bradford Davis, Republican, in the State senatorial fight in the fourth district.

Another La Follette man, John W. Adams, received the endorsement of the circular in preference to Richard J. McCormick, Republican, in the second district.

The names alleged to have been given the police for voting purposes were those of William Pettman of Highland street, Roxbury and Walter J. Kennedy of Somerville both of whom lived at the house last year but have since moved.

Ten of the Lawrence ballots were marked and cast before the mistake was noticed.

DAVIS AMONG EARLIEST VOTERS IN L. I. VILLAGE

Locust Valley, N. Y., Nov. 4 (I.N.S.).—With his campaign for the presidency ended, John W. Davis today obeyed his own injunction to vote early, and was among earliest arrivals at the polling place in this village's little white frame "neighborhood house." An army of cameramen, newspapermen and curious villagers greeted him. After Davis voted the straight Democratic ticket, he returned to his home here to spend the day in seclusion. He planned to get election returns tonight at the home of Frank L. Polk in New York.

WOMAN, 95, JOURNEYS TO CONCORD TO VOTE

Concord, Nov. 4.—A woman, ninety-five years old, Mrs. B. H. Paul, came here today from Revere, where she is living temporarily, to cast her ballot for Calvin Coolidge. Mrs. Paul's legal residence is in Concord. She lives for the present with Mr. and Mrs. Hardil at No. 420 Beach street, Revere, and Mrs. Hardil accompanied her here.

BOTH DEMOCRATS AND G. O. P. CLAIM COLORADO

Denver, Colo., Nov. 4.—Colorado voters will go to the polls to cast what it is believed will be a record breaking vote. Republican leaders predict that Coolidge will carry the State by 75,000, while Democratic followers are sanguine that the result will be for Davis.

DAVIS VOTES, THEN GOES TO PLAY GOLF

New York, Nov. 4.—John W. Davis took a holiday today. To visitors who called at his home in Locust Valley, Mr. Davis appeared obviously gratified that the campaign grind was over. He expressed confidence in the decision the electorate was making at the polls but was equally relieved that his personal role had come to an end. He motored to Glen Cove early in the day to cast his ballot. Then he went to the golf course.

CHILD LABOR IS CHIEF ISSUE ON REFERENDA

Advocates of Constitutional Amendment Supremely Confident of Victory

Daylight saving and child labor are two of the most interesting issues voted on today in Massachusetts in the seven referenda which appear on the ballot.

Tons of propaganda have been distributed to influence the vote on these questions, and the result of each referenda was eagerly awaited as the ballots were counted.

The daylight saving question is No. 6 on the ballot. It is to determine whether daylight saving shall be retained by law in this State. Farmers and their organizations have conducted a vigorous fight on the issue and they are confident of forcing the repeal of the law, although the proponents declare the probability of such action is too remote for serious consideration.

CHILD LABOR.

Question No. 7 asks for an expression of opinion by the voters as to whether the Legislature should ratify the child labor amendment to the Federal Constitution. Seldom has a question been so enthusiastically debated as has this one during the past few weeks. Supporters of a constitutional amendment prohibiting child labor are supremely confident of victory.

The first and second referenda are on the question of forging the State constitution into conformity with the Federal Constitution on the question of suffrage for women and the right of women to hold public office.

Question No. 3, known as the Volstead Act relates to the enforcement of the dry laws.

GASOLINE TAX.

A close vote is looked for on Question No. 4 which provides a tax of two cents per gallon on gasoline sold for motor vehicle use, the proceeds to be expended on the highways, one-half by the State and the other half by the towns and cities, following distribution of the money on a basis of State tax payments.

Question No. 5 provides for better regulation of foreign banks, so-called. The aim of this legislation will be to give better protection to foreign born residents who deposit their funds with fellow countrymen.

STATE FIGHT CENTRE OF INTEREST IN TEXAS

Dallas, Tex. Nov. 4.—Election eve brought to a close one of Texas' most active campaigns of recent years in which the Democratic leaders conducted an extensive drive in behalf of their nominee for Governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Democratic nomination usually is equivalent to election in Texas, but this year an unusually active campaign was made by the Republican nominee, Dr. George C. Butte. The State race was of paramount interest.

INDIANA KLAN VOTES GOING TO REPUBLICANS

Indianapolis, Nov. 4. — Interest aroused by the injection of the Ku Klux Klan issue into the gubernatorial contest, generally fair and warm weather throughout the State, and an approximate registration of 1,968,000 voters were factors that seemed likely to bring out an unprecedented vote in Indiana today. Klan votes were conceded to favor Jackson, Republican candidate for Governor, against Carleton B. McCulloch, nonelite.

WALSH LEAVES HIS FUTURE TO VOTERS

Senator Renews His Pledges and Makes Final Plea for Curley

United States Senator David I. Walsh wound up his campaign with a large rally in Worcester, at which he declared he had always stood for the interests of the working people and would continue to safeguard those interests if re-elected.

Senator Walsh, addressing a big and enthusiastic gathering in Mechanics Hall, Worcester, promised if the Republican party is victorious to support President Coolidge "when he is right, but I will oppose him on every measure on which I believe the President is wrong."

Senator Walsh urged the election of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston as Governor, irrespective of party affiliations.

The mayor and his advisors decided to change the campaign plans for the final day when the dash from Springfield, by way of Worcester was abandoned late yesterday.

The trip was called off after it was learned that Lieutenant Governor Fuller intended to broadcast a speech last night on behalf of the Republican ticket. The mayor immediately arranged to reply to the Lieutenant Governor's remarks from WEEI at 11 o'clock.

Mayor Curley and other candidates on the Democratic ticket wound up a hectic pre-election night with a whirlwind trip through the wards of Roxbury, ending in a big mass meeting at Symphony Hall.

A large crowd waited at the hall from 8 o'clock until Senator Walsh and the mayor arrived. The candidates received a tremendous ovation.

When Mayor Curley and his supporting speakers arrived at the Municipal building at Hyde Park earlier in the evening, where a rally was scheduled, they found a Republican mass meeting in full swing in the main auditorium of the building, with Lieutenant-Governor Fuller addressing an audience of about 300.

"MA" FERGUSON WAITS FOR THE GREAT NEWS

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 4.—Generally fair and warm weather caused political leaders to predict that 700,000 to 1,000,000 votes would be cast in Texas.

After one of the most spirited campaigns in recent years with chief interest in the race for Governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee and first woman to receive the gubernatorial nomination in the United States, waited for returns at her home at Temple.

JULIA ARTHUR IS CLASSIC SAINT JOAN

Actress Just as Valorous for 3½ Hours as Ever Was Her Prototype

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

WHETHER Bernard Shaw laughs with or at his audiences was settled at the Tremont last evening in the case of "Saint Joan." He does both.

This newest of Shaw plays brought Julia Arthur back to the Boston stage as a lone woman among twenty-three sturdy masculine actors, the central figure in a narrative that ran for three and a half hours. The extent of her task is obvious. Not even the Maid of Orleans herself was ever called upon to perform more valors in a given time, but to the everlasting credit of Miss Arthur she neither faltered nor buckled under the weight of so much heavy duty. The heroic Joan could hardly have been in safer hands.

SATRICAL THRUSTS.

A serious play had been promised—a stirring, dramatic recital of deeds inspired by faith and love of country. "Saint Joan" was all of that, but Mr. Shaw will not be denied his satirical thrusts, his sharp view of human frailties and his amusing digs at established institutions. Religion and politics were poked in the ribs in good Shavian fashion; the rights of the common people were frankly discussed by fifteenth century characters in twentieth century terms. Feudal lords, the church militant and the ignorance of the ruling nobles were presented at their worst. And through the rapidly moving scenes you could almost hear Shaw chuckling to himself at the fuss and fury he had created—and you chuckled with him.

"Saint Joan" was theatrical. That made it amusing—an entertainment. If there was inspiration in the performance, however, Miss Arthur supplied it with her own delightfully well balanced art. She acted with sincerity and conviction, and she reflected the glorious youth that we have come to associate with the peasant girl who saved her country and who probably leads the list among women who are memorialized in bronze and paint.

EXCELLENT SUPPER.

Miss Arthur's support was all that could be desired. Outstanding in the long roll of players were Phillip Leigh, who played the foolish dauphin; Lynn Pratt, a cold and sinister Earl of Warwick; Henry Travers, as an English priest, and Edward Mordant, as the Bishop of Beauvais.

"Saint Joan" is more than a dramatization of a familiar and heroic figure; it is a new opportunity for Mr. Shaw to shoot darts into silly customs and worn-out theories. In this kind of labor he is never dull and, of course, "Saint Joan" holds fast to the rule.

NEW STARS PRESENTED IN "THE OTHER ROSE"

"The Other Rose," which David Belasco presented in New York last season, made its initial appearance in Boston at the St. James last night.

Elsie Ferguson made her debut as leading lady of the Boston Stock Company in the role of Rose Cow. She was well supported by Bernard Nedell, also making his first appearance, as Tony, a young fellow hopelessly in love. Houston Richards played to his favorite character role of the young brother.

The scenes are laid in a little village in Maine. Rose, her father and younger brother have lived in solitude, much to the disapproval of Tony, the landlady's indolent son. After disposing much unnecessary Rose manages to win him over to her way of thinking and everything ends happily.

HOLLIS PLAY IS SURE CURE FOR BLUES

If you can't stand having your frame shaken by uproarous laughter, keep away from "The Nervous Wreck," Owen Davis' farce-comedy which opened last night at the Hollis Theatre.

Comparisons are odious but it is not too much to say that the comedy produced as many laughs to the minute at its premiere in Boston as any production that has been seen in Boston for a considerable time.

The ludicrous situations that are developed follow so closely and are so genuinely with provoking that quiet ripples of laughter do not suffice for the audience—it requires very audible expression of the feelings if one is to be comfortable.

RUN OUT OF 'GAS'

A nervous man seeking relief by a trip through the far West in his ancient flivver, supported by a case of nostrums and bills, and his adventures with a rancher's daughter who seeks to escape the attentions of an unwelcome suitor to whom she is engaged, furnishes the basis for the plot.

The couple run out of gasoline and stage a holdup—they are impressed into service as cook and waitress at a ranch house which is short of help on the eve of the appearance of the ranch owner—the victim of the holdup unexpectedly shows up—these and a dozen other funny situation keep the hilarity of the audience sustained until the final curtain.

AN EXCELLENT TONIC.

There is quite a bit of slapstick comedy—the breaking of crockery, and pots of batter used as a missile and similar devices, but no attempt is made in the piece to present anything serious.

Otto Kruger plays the part of the nervous wreck to a nicety. He carefully refrains from overplaying the part while Miss Kathleen Comegys, as the rancher's daughter who eventually falls into the arms of the nervous wreck, also has a well balanced sense of comedy and contributes much to the success of the piece.

For the tired business man or the overworked wife who can find relaxation in hearty laughter, no better tonic can be suggested than "The Nervous Wreck."

ACROBATIC ACT HEADS PLEASING KEITH'S BILL

A widely diversified and pleasing program is presented at Keith's Theatre this week, with Mlle. Rhea and Santoro, assisted by Alex Cross and Joseph Machi, Jr., heading the bill in a high class acrobatic, dancing and musical act.

Ras Samuels lived up to her notices as the "Blue Streak of Vaudeville." She dances and sings with more pep than ever.

Bert Hanlon, the "Gambling Gun" of vaudeville, with his batch of smiles, and the "Keyhole Kameos," with Jack Mundy, Leda Erroi and company of eight, in a short revue, were also well received.

The rest of the bill is well balanced by Burt Sheppard and Company; the Australian Whip King, Jack La Vier, in "All in the Spirit of Jest;" Lew Oliver and Mae Olsen in a series of smiles; Frawley and Louise in a skit entitled "Taxi Please," and Al Frabell and Sister in "You Can't Beat 'Em."

OPERA SEASON OPENS IN BOSTON

Large Audience Greets San Carlo Premier in "La Gioconda"

Grand Opera returned to Boston for the new season last night at the Boston Opera House, where a large and socially distinguished audience assembled to hear the San Carlo Opera Company in Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," the first opera of a season of two weeks which the company regularly spends in Boston.

The audience was enthusiastic and responsive. The singers were on their mettle and so was the conductor, Fulgenzio Guerrieri.

The main thing to be noted last night was a general improvement of the organization over last year's standard. The singing was better, especially for an opening night, when all hands are more or less nervous, the work of the chorus was spirited, and especially the orchestral playing was above previous standards. Then, too, the settings were far better than in previous years, when they have bordered on the shabby.

BALLET EXCELLENT.

The work of the Pavley-Oukrainsky Ballet, which travels with the San Carlo organization, stood out in the third act in the well known "Dance of the Hours." The dancing was excellent, and the scene was staged with a good deal of color.

Marie Rappold, formerly with the Metropolitan, sang the title role. Her singing was rather uncertain as to pitch in the early scenes, but she was singing much better at the end, and she ended in a blaze of glory. Her acting was with one exception, the best of the evening. It seems hypercritical to suggest that she did not give, cannot give, the illusion of youth that is set forth in the title role of "La Gioconda," but the truth is said.

ROLES WELL SUNG.

Stella de Mette was a more youthful looking Laura Adorno than Gioconda played Enzo. His singing was as good as any one's last night. The most interesting performance, from the artistic point of view, was given by Mary Kent, who played the part of La Cieca. Her singing was good, but her acting was still better, and she showed in general a meritorious tendency to self-effacement in the general ensemble. Ramaba, the "villain," was sung by Basiola Basiola, who was in fine voice and amply applauded.

The role of Alvise was taken by Pietro de Biasi, who has been better days as a singer, but his work last night was good. The other principal parts, Zuane, Natale Cervi, Un Cantore, Luigi De Cesare, and Isepo, Francesco Curci.

Tonight's opera will be Verdi's "Aida."

Society in Gala Array at Premiere of Opera

By BETTY ALDEN

A host of prominent folk made their way to the Boston Opera House to witness the opening performance of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company.

"La Gioconda," by Ponchielli, was the opera, and it was a most appreciative audience which listened as the story of the Italian street singer was unfolded to its tragic end.

As usual the "horse-shoe" was the cynosure of all eyes.

Opposite one of the center boxes were Mr. and Mrs. E. Sohier Welch —the latter gowned in black—who had a party including Mrs. Thorndike.

Both Mrs. Berthe and Francesca Draegliotti were there. Miss Berthe, who was gowned in white, with diamonds worn hide green with a headband to match, while "Cesca"—as her friends call her—wore a demure, youthful frock of green velvet, with crossed silver leaves crowning her chestnut hair.

Mrs. Mary Murray, widow of the Morris T. Murrays' daughters was also present, she in a handsome frock of black with slightly flaring skirt, a pink rose on one shoulder, its only touch of color. Miss Murray, by the way, returned not long ago from another of her frequent sojourns abroad.

Miss Joan Barton was there, her brunette coloring set off most effectively by her dress of green. Miss Suzette Stargis, who attended Miss Phyllis Rich when the latter married Robert B. Rantoul, a week or so Saturday, wore a peach-colored frock.

The Marquise Ferrante di Ruffano was there, as were also the Alvin T. Fullers and Courtney Guild. Other well-known folk sponsoring the two weeks' stay of the San Carlo Opera included Mrs. Allan Forbes, the Philip L. Saltonstalls, Mrs. George H. Fearing, Robert Winsor, Jr., Mrs. Samuel J. Bridge, Alexander Steinert and Miss Helen Ranney.

SMALL TOWN COMEDY AT SOMERVILLE THEATRE

"Across the Street," an exhilarating comedy of small town life, entertained a large audience at the Somerville Theatre last night. "Across the Street" may be likened to "Turn to the Right," pleasantly remembered from its long stay in Boston a few seasons ago. The play enjoys an advantage over "Turn to the Right" in that it has, in addition to a very fine plot, a whirlwind finish to a comedy that proved a great hit with the audience.

John R. Thorndikes to Spend Winter in Balmy Santa Barbara, California

By BETTY ALDEN.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN R. THORNDIKE have decided to spend the Winter in California, so that society will be further depleted when they depart shortly for the Pacific coast.

They will Winter in Santa Barbara, that sunshiny spot which seems to lure a larger Boston colony each year.

Mrs. Thorndike, though a fairly recent newcomer to Boston, has made many friends here since Mr. Thorndike brought her to the Hub as his bride. She was formerly Miss Caroline Wyeth, daughter of Mrs. Stephen G. Williams of New York, and her marriage to the Boston man took place in Manhattan three Junes ago.

TODAY'S debutante — almost every day or night has its bud now—is Miss Florence Davol, daughter of the Stephen B. Davols of Brookline, who are giving a large dinner and theatre party for her tonight. This being election night the affair will be surcharged with all the suspense and excitement customary to the night.

Miss Davol's bow to society was made last Thursday, when her parents gave a large luncheon for her at their Brookline home. This bud will be further feted at the dinner which Mrs. Edward S. Streeter of Beacon street is staging in her honor next Saturday.

After the dinner many of the guests will cross the Charles for the first Brattle Hall dance of the season.

AMONG the buds who presided at the tea tables during Miss Davol's presentation were the Misses Priscilla and Louise Waterman, whose mother, Mrs. George Waterman, is giving a luncheon for them in Chestnut Hill tomorrow.

Another deb function taking place tomorrow is the tea-dance at which Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Apsey are introducing their daughter, Miss Suzanne. Apsey, the affair is to be given for its setting the Cambridge home of the Apseys at No. 150 Brattle street.

All in all, it seems that the debbies will find the week anything but dull.

On Thursday Mr. Arthur Kennard is presenting his daughter, Miss Helen Kennard, at a tea at the Hotel Somerset, while Friday has two bud functions on the cards—the Chilton Club luncheon for Miss Polly Parfrey, daughter of the John D. Parfreys of Brookline, as well as the tea for Miss Elizabeth Lockwood, daughter of the Hamilton de Forest Lockwoods of Marlboro street.

The opening for the season of the Brattle Hall dances on Saturday will add further gayety to the week's festivities.

Society Notes

General and Mrs. Butler Ames and Mrs. Horace Gray were among the Bostonians arriving the other day in New York from Southampton.

The Misses Theresa and Lee Higginson have concluded their Boston visit with Miss Louise Fave and gone to Virginia for their usual hunting sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. W. Foster of "Castle Farm," Charles River Village are now at Hot Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. King, Jr., have returned to town after a long season at Pride's Crossing.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Kent of Commonwealth avenue are among the most reluctant to leave the North Shore. They will be at Pride's Crossing probably until Thanksgiving.

The Francis Storer Eatons will sail shortly for Paris to join Mrs. Eaton's daughter, Miss Olive Tenny, son Foster. Later on the Eatons will go to the Riviera for the remainder of the season.

NEW CARTON COMEDY DELIGHTS AT COPLEY

A delightful audience at the Copley Theatre viewed the first showing of R. C. Carton's light comedy, "Lady Huntworth's Experiment."

All the actors seemed to fit into their parts to perfection. There was C. Wordley Hulse as the Rev. Audley Pillenger, who dropped his dignity to propose marriage to his cook. She proves in the end to be the former Lady Huntworth, who, divorced by her worthless husband, has been obliged to work for a living. The part is admirably portrayed by Violet Paget.

Then there was Hugh C. Buckler as Captain Dervaston, who in the end is relieved of his betrothal to the charming Miss Lucy Pillenger, the vicar's niece, to marry Lady Huntworth.

The love element is furnished by the affair between young Miss Pillenger, played by Katherine Standing, and Rev. Harry Thorsby, Alan Mowbray. As usual it ends in their elopement and marriage.

Worthy of special mention is the acting of Francis Compton as Mr. Crayil, the good-for-nothing former husband of Lady Huntworth.

LAUGHING PLAY GOES OVER BIG AT PLYMOUTH

"The Potters" Full of Humorous Delight in Every One of Dozen Scenes

Not because J. P. McEvoy is a newspaper man or anything like that, but because he has given the world the funniest play of the season, he is suggested as the wearer of the stage humorists' crown for 1924.

Boston has been blessed this season with a deluge of perfect theatre offerings of all types, but McEvoy, who does his bit for newspaper humor every week, has accomplished the task of painting the lily.

"The Potters," which opened at the Plymouth Theatre—a play built around any family whose head is a self-declared hero at the office every day except pay day, will pull the advertised 1,092 laughs even from a defeated candidate.

Pa Potter just misses out on pay raises, investments and all that identically with every other family head of his type. His love-sick daughter and his love-sick son quarrel just as ardently and stick together in time of crisis just as loyally.

Ma Potter is the patient wife and mother found in thousands of households and she takes Pa's inspired venture into oil in just the same manner. But, surprisingly, Pa's oil venture turns out happily, with a new twist.

Mrs. George A. Hibbard, widow of a former Boston mayor is Ma Potter and Walter Perkins is Pa, an almost "regular business man."

The daughter, Mamie, is Viola Frayne and Bill Potter, callow youth, is Guy Pendleton.

An even two dozen other players make up the balance of the excellently endowed cast that carries the laughing play's action through twelve scenes, unique in that not one occupies the full stage.

TWO KILLED AS AUTO CRASHES TROLLEY CAR

Fulton, N. Y., Nov. 4. — A. H. Lamb, forty-eight years old, and Mrs. Bruce Waugh, forty-five years old, of this city were killed instantly when their automobile collided with a trolley car on the empire state lines at a crossing about two miles south of this city.

'Don't Tell Mamma,' Pleads Girl Run Over by Trolley

New York, Nov. 4. — "Just wrap a piece of my petticoat around it and don't tell my mamma."

These were the last words uttered by Fanny Lopman, thirteen years old, just before she lost consciousness after being lifted from under a Gates avenue trolley car which had knocked her down at Evergreen avenue, Brooklyn, almost directly in front of the Bushwick High School, of which she is a student.

As she walked around the end of the car and was crossing the other tracks, another Gates avenue car, operated by Alexander Morganson, knocked her down.

At the hospital it was said the leg would have to be amputated.

CELESTE AGAIN CHARGED WITH HOLDUP

Indictment in General Electric Robbery Reopened by Court

The charges against Charles Celeste, involving participation in the $12,000 General Electric hold-up in 1919, have again been placed on file in Middlesex superior court.

Celeste, widely known in Boston sporting circles, pleaded guilty to the charges in 1919 and the charges against him were filed by Nathan A. Tufts, then district attorney. Later, the case was restored to the active list.

Attorneys for Celeste explained to the court their client had pled guilty with the understanding that the charges were to be not pressed. Celeste had no knowledge of the hold-up but his testimony was needed to convict the men involved, according to the lawyers.

Judge Lawton, who again has filed the charges remembered nothing of the case. Assistant District Attorney Robert Bushnell told the court he was perfectly satisfied to file the charges as his office has no evidence with which to convict Celeste.

'WEE DRAPPIE' TOO MUCH FOR MINISTER

The "Rev" G. A. Murphy Charged With Driving Car While Drunk

The "Rev." George A. Murphy, self styled minister and connected with the Christian and Missionary Alliance, is in Lynn police court today explaining how his system required a wee drop or two of something in the ministerial coffee.

The "Minister" had his wee drop and coffee and then drove his light car over a tar pot along the Boston-Lynn road, where repairs are being made. The workmen escorted Murphy to police station where he was booked on the charge of being drunk and driving a car while intoxicated.

He explained his condition by saying he needed a slight stimulant in his coffee.

Lynn police say the man is the same autoist who ran down Mrs. Mary Pratt, aged 65, on Western avenue, Lynn, Sunday. The woman is in a serious condition at the Lynn hospital.

PASTOR, NAMED AS SCOFFLAW, DISMISSED

West Lebanon, Me., 4. — After charges of being a scoffaw and telling naughty stories had been preferred against him, the Rev. Frank W. Timerly has been dismissed as pastor of the Congregational Church here.

The charges, it is understood, were not substantiated at a parish meeting, but the laymen voted to dispense with the pastor's services, paying his salary to April 1.

The Rev. Timperly is still pastor of the Baptist Church at Lebanon Centre. For two years the minister has been dividing his time between the two churches, preaching one sermon in each church each Sunday.

The minister's troubles started according to members of the congregation, when he arrived here from another Maine town and it was found that he sometimes enjoyed the use of tobacco. Also, the minister favored permitting the young folks of his congregation to hold dances at their social affairs. The tobacco and the dances went into the discard when members of the congregation objected.

BRIDE-WIDOW BANS BLACK GOWNS

Husband Would Not Have Wished Mourning, Mrs. Paquette Explains

Mrs. Eleanor McKey Paquette, Hingham girl, who was a bride and a widow within a few hours is back at her mother's home, preparing to look for work for herself.

The bride-widow has returned from Albany, where Donald C. Paquette became her husband a short time before he died of injuries suffered while boarding a Boston & Albany train.

Mrs. Paquette is not in mourning. "Donald would not have wished it," she explained simply to her friends.

"I am going to work now," declared the bride of but a few hours. "There's nothing else left now. I shall never meet another man so generous, so considerate, so wonderful. We never had a quarrel in all the time I knew him, and we never missed seeing each other every day or talking to each other over the telephone in all the three years.

"It's strange, but when he left to visit his mother in Detroit I felt like telling him not to go. His coach was the last one on the train and we joked about accidents then. And the day it happened, I woke up at 6 o'clock in the morning and just couldn't sleep. I wouldn't leave the house all day and then the news came." Mrs. Paquette's voice was husky as she talked, indistinct at times, although the little forced smile returned now and then.

"I married him the day before he died because we all thought he was better, that he was going to live," she continued. "I tried to put it off until he would be well, but he was insistent, and to please him I did marry him right beside his bed. I would have married even if I had though it was going against him if he had wanted me to.

"You see, we planned to be married some time this month. He had been visiting his mother and was on his way home. At Albany he got off to buy magazines, missed the train and had to wait four hours. He saw this train at the station, thought it was the Boston train pulling out and ran after it, swinging his bag along. I guess that sort of knocked him off under the wheels.

"I am not going to wear black, for he wouldn't want me to," the young bride-widow added simply.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With Barbo Compound

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger, with this simple remedy. Watch they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

But careful treatment and a pair of spectacles aided her and now she is a specialty dancer. She wears the glasses at all times—except when doing her number.

MINES BUREAU CERTIFIES ETHYL 'GAS'

Washington, Nov. 4 (Universal)—The use of ethyl gasoline as a motor fuel is entirely harmless, so far as any danger from exhaust gases is concerned, it is announced at the Department of the Interior.

This conclusion was reached as the result of tests conducted during the past eight months at the Bureau of Mines experimental station at Pittsburgh.

The sale of ethyl gasoline has been prohibited in many communities because of the death of five workers in the Elizabeth, N. J., laboratories of the Standard Oil Company who were engaged in the manufacture of tetraethyl lead.

The apparently deadly qualities of the compound, tetraethyl lead, it was pointed out, has led to the erroneous belief that its presence in ethyl gasoline would be equally hazardous.

Having determined that there is no hazard due to the exhaust gases from ethyl gasoline, the Bureau of Mines is continuing its experiments to determine the hazard in the manufacture of tetraethyl lead and the possible hazard in handling ethyl gasoline. Sufficient data has not yet been obtained to draw conclusions.

AGE SAVES MAN, 75, FROM PRISON SENTENCE

Only his age saved William W. Coe of Boston, who is seventy-five, from being sent to prison, when he appeared for sentence before U. S. District Judge James M. Morton yesterday.

Coe had pleaded nolo to a Federal indictment charging fraudulent use of the mails in a stock promotion scheme. Judge Morton in pronouncing sentence said:

"You will be fined $2,000. I will give you thirty days to get the money, as I understand you can't pay it now. I have taken into consideration your age and infirmity. If you were a younger man, I would have no hesitancy in sending you to prison."

Which Class Are You In?

DOCTORS know that eight out of ten people are suffering from Anemia—blood starvation. And the first result of Anemia is lack of energy—lessening vitality.

The test above will show you if you are one of the eight. Press the thumbnail firmly . . . unless the blood comes rushing back rich and red, it indicates Anemia.

LEADS SOCIETY WOMEN IN FIGHT FOR GOLD

MRS. JAMES J. BROWN

Mrs. Brown "The Unsinkable," Plans to Redeem Little Johnny Mine and Head Women Running it

Newport, R. I., Nov. 4.—Gold—great underground veins of the precious yellow metal is being dreamed about by the matrons and debutantes of the millionaires' colony here.

In drawing rooms and boudoirs at bridge tables and in the shops wherever women gather, the topic of conversation is gold and the possibility that Newport society women may be given a chance to gather it by digging into one of Colorado's immense subterranean treasure houses. And the woman who has inoculated the society set with the gold fever is Mrs. James J. Brown, millionaire's widow, sportswoman, artist, globe trotter and adventurer.

WOMEN TO RUN MINE.

The germ of the gold fever was released when Mrs. Brown announced that with three other women she plans to wrest control of the Little Johnny mine at Leadville, Colorado, from the group of men now in power there and to operate it herself. Her three women associates, she says, with her, will form the directorate. And other women of Newport may be invited to share in further development of the mine and adjacent properties. Gold, gold, huge shimmering piles of it are visualized by the women as they listen to Mrs. Brown's ambitious scheme.

Two facts convince local society women that the Little Johnny mine project is not a yellow mirage that will disappear when approached. One fact is that the mine is now a producer, has produced fabulous fortunes, and lies next to the ground declared by geologists to be rich in minerals. The other fact is that Mrs. Brown has never been known to turn her back upon any goal when once she had determined to attain it.

In Mrs. Brown's strange career there are many episodes that illustrate her "go through despite all obstacles" character. Her friends mention her heroism when she pulled a stroke oar in a lifeboat when the Titanic sank. They mention her intrepid conduct when she entered the bullet-swept battlefields of the Colorado mine district in 1914 while strikers and sheriffs were fighting; they mention her tireless efforts to carry relief to war sufferers when she was a Red Cross worker in the World War. All these are mentioned as guarantees that Mrs. Brown will oust the men who now control the Little Johnny and make practical miners of local women whose only digging experience have been on golf links when they were learning to swing a mashie. Mrs. Brown's nickname is another proof of her reputation for courage. Her nickname is "The Unsinkable," because she was saved in the Titanic wreck.

YIELDED $11,000,000.

The women who have been asked to be directors of the Little Johnny mine are Mrs. A. V. Hunter and the Misses Helen and Phyllis Campion. The husband of Mrs. Hunter and the father of the Campion girls were the men who helped the late James J. Brown to develop his mine. Since they opened the first shaft more than $11,000,00 in ore has been taken out.

Mrs. Brown married her husband at the age of fifteen and before she was out of her teens she had gathered much knowledge of mining by living at Little Johnny and watching her husband work. After his death she inherited his millions and since then has traveled in all parts of the world, seeking and finding adventure.

She always retained her interest in mines and miners and numbered among her friends many rough men who handle the picks and drills in the Colorado mine fields. When the miners went on strike in 1914, and the strike developed into real "warfare, with machine guns spitting death, she hurried to the fields and dared all dangers in a successful effort to bring peace.

When put into a lifeboat as the Titanic was sinking she again showed her bravery by seizing an oar and helping to row the boat to a rescue ship. She proved to be the best oarsman in the boat and was given the honor place at stroke.

FINDS PIRATES' LOOT.

Mrs. Brown never relinquished her stock in the Little Johnny mine. Recently her interest in the property was sharpened by reports that the mine was being mismanaged and that "hi-jackers" were stealing much ore. It was then that she decided that, with the other heirs of the mine's discoverers she would assume control.

If the energy, determination and intelligence of Margaret Tobin Brown, widow of J. J. Brown, count for anything, a new day is due to dawn for the mining industry in Colorado and a new place in the sun is to be won by women.

JUDGE BERTRAM L. SMITH DROPS DEAD IN BANGOR

Bangor, Me., Nov. 4.—Justice Bertram L. Smith, sixty-eight years old, of Patten, the Penobscot County Superior Court judge, dropped dead of heart disease early today as he was about to enter his car at a garage near the Penobscot Exchange Hotel where he made his home while in this city. Justice Smith was appointed by former Governor Milliken in 1919, when the court was established. He had served in the State Legislature two terms and was county attorney, 1897 to 1905.

ESTIMATES VARY ON PENNSYLVANIA VOTE

Portable X-ray Looks Right Through the Smugglers' Tricks

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The announcement of the development in the General Electric laboratories of a portable X-ray machine has brought inquiries from a Central American government concerning the possibility of obtaining 1,200 for use of customs inspectors at ports of entry.

The Coolidge portable X-4-6, according to its inventor, has the power of disclosing contents of bundles and of penetrating the walls of a room or a trunk, and it was thought the device might be adapted to customs inspection work.

TONGS PAY $15,000 FOR KILLINGS

Scale Ranges From $3,000 Upward, Former Hip Sing Head Says

The life of a Boston Chinaman is valued in a sliding scale from $3,000, for an ordinary laundry worker, to $15,000 for an officer of the Wu Fat faction or of the Hip Sing Tong, by their enemies the On Leongs, according to a statement by Chin Jack Lam, a mysterious figure in the recent tong war which spread over the United States.

In an interview published in the Chicago Daily News, Lam was quoted as saying that he once was president of the On Leong Tong and that these organizations were similar to building and loan associations, aiding Chinese in getting started in business and receiving in return a share of the profits.

The On Leong Tong, he was quoted as saying, piled up a surplus of $160,000, which the Tong urged be used to pay income taxes on the business of the members. Twelve officials objected, desiring to divide the money.

"They formed the Wee Gong faction of the On Leongs and divided the money," he said. "My friend and I immediately organized the Wu Fat faction. The Gongs wanted us all killed."

He declared gunmen were hired and $15,000 offered any one who would kill him, and that guns were purchased in Springfield, Minneapolis and Hartford, and that additional gunmen were hired in New York, Boston and Liverpool.

'COUNT' WILL ASK FOR LIBERTY

Milwaukee, Nov. 4.—Franz Heimuth Kinchel, self-styled Baron von Alcortt, is making another try for freedom—this time legitimately.

Tired of making chairs in the house of correction factory for others to enjoy, the bogus baron, who claims a personal acquaintance with District Attorney Eugene Wengert now, will appear in his behalf before the legislature committee, January 2, Can. Governor Blaine on December 3 for a pardon or commutation of sentence.

Although a pardon would automatically place him in jeopardy of deportation at the hands of the government, Kinchel apparently believes that return to Germany is the lesser of two evils. However, he is not sure that the government can deport him and intends to fight any proceedings to return him, his attorney declares.

Kinchl's troubles, which landed him in the prison for an eighteen months' term, began on January 22, when detectives arrested him on charges of attempting to steal the automobile of Fred Pabst, president of the Pabst Corporation. He came to Milwaukee three days before, claiming to be a representative of the German Army Officers' Association and began collecting funds for the widows and orphans of German army officers.

When testimony showed him to be a fraud he was sentenced on February 16 by former Judge A. C. Backus, who characterized him as a "parasite who lives off the miseries of widows and orphans."

SMOKING BAN STIRS STUDENTS

Colby Boys Call Protest Meeting After Expulsion of 2 Girls

Waterville, Me., Nov. 4.—Indignation runs high among the undergraduates at Colby College.

Two fair co-eds have been dismissed summarily from the institution for smoking cigarettes in their rooms.

"Rank discrimination" is the opinion of the campus and a meeting of protest has been called when the question of circulating a petition demanding the reinstatement of the girls will be discussed.

EVERYONE AFFECTED.

"Any girl I catch smoking anywhere or anytime, will not be permitted to remain in Colby" is the dictum of President Arthur Jeremiah Roberts, president of the college. This decision has been issued in the face of the indignation of the undergraduate body.

The girls banned from the college because they insisted on daintily puffing away in their room in Mary Lowe Hall are Miss Pauline Virgil Page of Augusta and Miss Blanche May Smith of Cornish, both members of prominent Maine families.

There is no ban against smoking by male students. Therefore, the student body argues that girls should be permitted to worship at the shrine of My Lady Nicotine if the spirit moved them.

"It is true that we have no rule or regulation at Colby forbidding smoking by our women students," said President Roberts, "any more than we have a rule forbidding the men students to smoke. But I will not permit it. I consider smoking an unladylike act. Any girl I catch smoking anywhere or anytime will not be permitted to remain in Colby."

WERE WARNED TWICE

"It is ridiculous to call this discrimination. We are a co-educational institution and rules and regulations are for the men and women alike. But we have no rule regarding smoking. We merely require that our students shall be ladies and gentlemen.

"Perhaps it would be just as well if no one smoked. But I have raised no objection to smoking by our young men in their rooms or even on the college campus. These young women had been caught smoking in their room in Mary Lowe Hall and warned twice.

DENIES DISGRACE

"The third time they were expelled. I have never heard that smoking cigarettes is general among our co-eds. I am surprised at it.

Asked if it were true that Miss Page and Miss Smith were so heartbroken by their expulsion they had packed their belongings and left college, saying they should not go home in disgrace, President Roberts made a vigorous denial.

"Miss Page went to the home of her roommate, Miss Smith, in Cornish," he said, "and that is why she is not in Augusta. The parents of both girls have been here to see me and I know that they are together in Cornish."

CONTROL PNEUMONIA AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Nov. 4 (Universal)—City health authorities today reported two more deaths as the result of the pneumonia outbreak in the Mexican quarter of the city.

At a conference of State, city, county and Federal health officials with Mayor Cryer, it was decided that the State board of health take charge of the situation. An executive committee was appointed and a statement issued.

Members of the committee expressed the opinion that the disease was totally under control and that all fear that it will spread to other regions is past.

MAN HELD IN FATAL LUMBER CAMP SHOOTING

Upton, Nov. 4.—Sam Sherett, about fifty years old, died in Milford Hospital as a result of being shot in the left side of his abdomen.

John Pelky, about sixty years old, who is alleged by the police to have done the shooting in a woodchopper's camp about one-and-one-half miles from West Upton, is under arrest and is in the Upton lockup.

Harvard Gold Coasters Shame Bankers; Smoke Fifty-Centers!

STEPPING OUT WITH THE 50-CENTERS

Y. W. C. A. BANS 'EDUCATION WEEK'

New York, Nov. 4.—The Young Women's Christian Association with a membership of more than 600,000 will not co-operate with the United States Bureau of Education in the observance of "Education Week," November 17 to 23, "because of certain elements in the announced program inconsistent with the position of its national board in regard to world peace and international cooperation," Roger N. Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union announced. Mr. Baldwin said this decision of the national board of the Y. W. C. A. was conveyed to him in a letter from Mabel Cratty, general secretary of the women's organization.

The Civil Liberties Union has charged Commissioner of Education John J. Tigert with "unwarranted violation of trust in the conduct of a public office and its prostitution to the private propaganda interests of a military organization."

Washington, Nov. 4.—The National Education Association, co-operating in the promotion of National Educational Week, announced today through its president, J. W. Crabtree, that the program "would be carried out, despite protests and propaganda."

No notification of the withdrawal of the National Council of the Y. W. C. A. had been received by the association, he said, but declared the Women's League for Peace and Freedom and one or two other organizations had lodged complaint against the activities of the American Legion in the plans.

EAST BOSTON FIREMEN HAVE STIFF BATTLE

Fire in the four-story brick building at No. 161 Meridian street, East Boston, today gave firemen a stiff fight for about an hour and a half. The building, which is owned by Harry Goldenberg, is occupied as a furniture store by Jackson Caldwell. An over-heated smoke-pipe caused the blaze which did damage estimated at $1,500.

ST. ALBANS MANSION OF E. C. SMITH BURNED

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 4.—Fire today destroyed the mansion of E. C. Smith, on his estate "Seven Acres," here. It started in the attic and swept the entire structure. Low water pressure on the hill hampered the fire department.

But Yard Cop Says They Don't Know a Good Cigar, and Judge Them by the Gold Bands!

Harvard gold-coasters smoke 50-cent cigars.

These ages opulent cigars, with great ornate bands loudly proclaiming well being and satisfaction and with an aroma that is an aroma—in fact store-rumor says they blot at wealth, but who ever notes their fragrance? Who is accustomed to shell out fifty cents or a dollar for a smoke?

PUT BANKERS TO SHAME

After a fight among bankers who are addicted to stogies and salesmen with very democratic cigarettes, finally in Harvard Yard was found the great, the fine, the sweet cigar with the much-decorated band—held in student lips.

At a cigar store, which supplies much of Harvard's tobacco needs, it found that there is a large demand for the higher priced cigars; big fat ones at fifty cents, or better ones at a dollar demanded in the Christmas season, and the smaller, but just as expensive, imported ones of fine leaf.

Cigarettes and pipe tobacco, especially that of finer blend from special formulae, however, are the students' principal smokes. Cigars are more confined to the privacy of the Harvard studies, where the utmost communion with Lady Nicotine is had. Consequently the gross sales of cigars are not so large.

YARD COPS TREASON.

"These students, thought—they don't know a good cigar when they see it," a Yard "cop" said. "They think if it has a big gilded band, and costs a lot, it's a good cigar."

Despite the presidential election today, cigars are lacking around the Pill Box, for some reason or other. Not a one could be found. Or perhaps politicians have been frightened away by the high-priced cigar tastes of the students. Nickel ones don't go.

PATROLMEN KILL MAN ATTEMPTING HOLDUP

New York, Nov. 4 (I.N.S.)—Two patrolmen interrupted a holdup today at the G and J Restaurant and shot and killed a man they identified as John C. Clark, twenty-two, one of the highwaymen. His companion escaped. Joseph Karpolinus, proprietor, was working in his kitchen when he heard the cash register bell ring and, looking through a window, saw the customers with armed hands. He opened fire through the window. Patrolmen Gruber and Riggs heard the shots and joined in the chase.

STATE GIVES O. K. TO EDISON STOCK ISSUE

Approval of the petition of the Edison Illuminating Company of Boston for authority to issue 77,857 shares of additional capital stock of the par value fo $7,785,700, was given today by the State Department of Public Utilities.

The new capital is to be applied to the payment of liabilities heretofore or hereafter incurred for additions to and extensions of its plant and property. In its decision, the department says:

"The company proposes to sell this stock at $155 a share. This, if affected, would yield the sum of $12,067,835. We cannot say that the price of $155 per share fixed by the company for this large block is so low as to be inconsistent with the public interest.

"We deem it desirable in order to avoid prejudging any fact controverted in the pending Edison rate cases, or at the hearing upon this petition, to pass no judgment upon any particular expenditure.

"It is enough for the purpose of this petition, particularly in view of the fact that the company has not made any very large expenditures in the past, but has now under way extensive projects which would permit ample future adjustment if necessary, to say that we are satisfied that at most the aggregate sum of $12,067,835 to be realized from the sale of this stock is properly capitalized."

11 DEAD IN CRASH, AND THREE MORE MAY DIE

Newport News, Va., Nov. 4.—Only four of the fifteen persons in a bus struck by a Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train at a blind crossing in North Hampton remained alive today, and only one of those, an infant, was thought to have a fair chance to recover. Eight were dead before rescuers arrived, and three others died shortly afterward.

Ben Carlin, engineer of the train, which was making a speed of about 45 miles an hour, said the first indication he had that the bus was on the tracks was the crash.

The bus, which was operated between Hampton and Portsoun, Va., was struck squarely in the center and demolished, bodies of the dead and injured and fragments of the wrecked car being scattered along the tracks.

DOCTORS IN HUB ASK PROOF

Johns Hopkins Expert Says He Has Arrested Progress of Disease

By GRACE DESCHAMPS

Will the greatest mortality factor in the country yield to surgery?

Dr. M. E. Dandy, associate professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins University, says it will.

Angina pectoris, "the business man's disease" a heart condition which annually kills more persons in the United States than any other single disease, is up in the doctor's scales, balanced against a surgeon's scalpel.

Dr. Mahoney

Boston physicians are watching the scales. Health Commissioner Francis X. Mahoney considers "the possible outcome of Dr. Dandy's experiment one of the most vital things ever done in surgery."

"If he's really done it!" says Dr. Mahoney.

Professor Dandy, before the Tri-State Medical Association, in Milwaukee, declares he has cut certain glands at the base of the brain, and the nerves which adjoin certain arteries, thereby arresting a case of angina pectoris.

Angina pectoris, which is an abnormal condition of the heart, is a symptom of another disease—usually hardening of the arteries. Too much calcium deposited in the arteries cause them to harden around the heart and to impair its function.

Worry, mental strain, brain fatigue, acting upon the tiny nerves which lead to and from the brain, converging the nervous strain of the body to the various organs, as the heart and stomach, are among the chief causes of hardening of the arteries.

These tiny nerves, leading to the main arteries over the heart, connect to them the mental shock of modern living, acting upon them disastrously—the latter, in turn, crippling the function of the heart.

"Dr. Dandy's work is not quite evident, yet," declares Dr. Thomas W. Leavitt.

"We do not see just how he is going to deal with a chronic disease by taking a measure which might ward off the disease, if you could anticipate it.

LOCKED BALLOT BOXES ON VIEW AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Nov. 4.—Ballot boxes heretofore known in Washington only by hearsay were visible everywhere in the downtown section of the Capital today, but they were padlocked and no votes were cast in them.

The District of Columbia League of Women Voters staged the demonstration to emphasize the fact that Washington residents cannot vote as citizens of the district, and to further an educational campaign to have the disability removed.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN'S BODY ON R. R. TRACKS

The body of an unidentified man, about twenty-one years old, was found on the railroad tracks, under the Southampton street bridge, early today by Joseph E. Callahan. Both legs were amputated from the body when found. The man was evidently run over by a train.

He was of medium complexion, has light brown hair, blue eyes and wore blue overalls and jumper, gray checked cap, and brown canvas shoes. The body was removed to the Southern Mortuary.

$500,000 FIRE AT PITTSBURGH ELEVATOR

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4.—Fed by hundreds of tons of grain, fire today destroyed the grain elevator and building of the Dwight Humlin Company, Inc., burned six box cars on the Allegheny Valley Railroad siding and drove six families from their homes. Fire Marshal Thomas Flaty estimated the damage at $500,000.

HARVARD 10 TO 8 FAVORITE TO DEFEAT TIGER AT STADIUM

FISHERMEN READY FOR BIG TEST

By NICK FLATLEY.

HARVARD will go into the Princeton game a 10 to 8 favorite. That's the belief of the boys who are beginning to shiver in the icy blasts along Speculator Row, sometimes called Washington street. Just now Tiger backers are paging 10 to 8, or 10 to 7, and getting a little of it, but the prices will have to go closer to even before there's any real business. There's really no reason for such odds, on the performances of the teams in question, but the members of the profession in Boston know football very well, thank you. They have seen the evidence of Crimson power. Just as well as the coaches and the scouts.

* * *

BOB FISHER'S athletes will face a very tough test in this particular conflict, which is the one really big Eastern game of the week. Harvard, with a lot of kick tossed away the Dartmouth game. The boys fumbled and slipped in the pinches. They had no real tryout since that time. They have, of course, been drilled almost prodigy to correct those particular faults. But the memory will be with them, at least until the clash of conflict with Princeton takes their minds off both past and future and cements it to the uproarious present. A few early mistakes, before the boys are sure the cure has worked, can mean ruin.

* * *

PRINCETON teams have always been famous for taking advantages of opponents' slips, for starting performances of the very first feat. Sam White, not so long ago, won both Big Three games in the same year by picking up fumbles and running many jarnsaings for touchdowns. The Foes used to kick unbelievable field goals to upset chesty enemies. A few well timed passes on Saturday, and the Tiger yell is very likely to go rocking across the landscape toward New Jersey.

* * *

THE Tigers haven't displayed much variety of play to date, but then, Bill Roper hasn't been forced to. His athletes out boss enough against the Navy to give the game out in the last few moments. They had a chance, and popped up with the materials to capitalize it. In the Notre Dame game Princeton was licked and knew it. Trying stuff that might later be useful, but was hopeless against the wonder lineup Rauf was no part of the Jungle strategy. As the teams will line up, the invaders will have just as many experienced regulars as Princeton, will have just as much urge to beat down for glory. Tiger teams have always been pictirecquie. Harvard has moved away from its stolid, methodic style of game. The Crimson is cutting loose as much as the rest of them. So it shapes up like quite a pastime.

* * *

PENNSYLVANIA, unless some unexpected obstacles are encountered along the rest of the trail, will be raised as Eastern champions when the smoke is full on the season. The Red and Blue eleven hurdled well toward the pinnacle by beating Lafayette Saturday. The representatives of the Marquis have one of those teams that hasn't a weakness. But Penn had a little more to do, the final punch that marks the champ. Cornell is the only danger spot that really threatens on the Quakers' schedule, and Gloomy Gil's team isn't so good. The defeat of Columbia can be discounted, for Percy Haughton's pupils hadn't started to recover from the smock of their great coach's death. The driving power back of the scheme of things was naturally missing.

* * *

THE best football team in the country, however is parked somewhere in the West. Notre Dame would beat almost any opponent you might pick in the far stretches of the land, except Illinois. That outfit, with the remarkable Red Grange leading the assault, seems to be the irresistible force that collides with the immovable object and knocks said object cock-eyed. A team that can roll up the scores the Illini have registered against their conference rivals comes mighty close to surging into the annals as one of the very best of all time.

* * *

ONE of the big surprises of the year was the explosion staged by the formerly unbeatable Marquette team against Creighton. It took all the glitter off a Brazen Field fray that promised to offer splendid solace to the boys who couldn't get into the Stadium. The big Eagles are coming along fast, and the gang was welcoming the chance to watch them against a worthy foe. The advance reports have it that Marquette was saving a few slightly crippled regulars for Saturday, and consequently took a licking. Maybe the team will be worthy of its competition Saturday. But in a football way of looking at it, the upset was a bitter blow.

BRITISH PAN GREAT GAME OF BASEBALL

London, Nov. 4.—Americans who scorn cricket as a slow and soporific sport ought to be told that the English, or at least some of them, think that baseball is monotonous. Such was the conclusion of the cricket experts of the London newspapers who reported the first of the games played between the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox in the British capital last week.

An inning by the dullest professional cricketer who ever dawdled through the leaden hours on an English cricket ground has infinite variety when compared with the thwackings of a baseball "star," was the sober judgment of the Manchester Guardian reporter. "He has only two possible strokes; one, to the slow one with a cross bat; the other is a smothering stroke which will enable him to bolt for first base or in thirds, while the pitcher and catcher tumble over each other in rescuing the ball from the odd spot.

"What usually happens is that the striker slogs the ball into deep field, hits up the window of a drawing room into one of the capacious gloves whose wearers are quite infallible in getting to the right place for the catch.

"There is no obviously perceptible variation in the pitching, which is at first dull and further on may be, but of course, there is enormous skill in it."

All-Star Card of Bouts for Wrestling Fans

Paul Bowser has arranged a card of four all-star bouts for his big tourney up at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night.

Fans have been aching to have Count Zarzynski, the Ukrainian nobleman, matched with some one his weight. Thursday night he will meet Jack Albright in a finish match.

As another added feature Cora Livingston will make her first appearance of the season, meeting Miss Louise Daffield in a finish.

Frank Bruno, who has made such a hit hereof in his clean-cut work, will again grapple on the card promised to meet Johnny Gentwell, the South Boston Brownie.

Still another bout on the card will be a one fall match between Frank Yuszko, the Lithuanian heavyweight champion, and George Toolos, the Rough House Greek.

BOSTON SOCCER TEAM PLAYS BROOKLYN TODAY

Boston's professional soccer team will have one hard election day game on its hands this afternoon at Braithorne Park, Brooklyn, where they meet the Brooklyn eleven of the American League. The squad which Jock Marshall and Company has been one of the features of the National League race. Sunday the team tied Fall River and it is out to give Boston's wonder workers their first defeat.

The Boston team will be selected from Paterson, Black, McMillan, Abel, McArthur, Muirhead, Hamill and McIntyre, Fleming, W. Bullerlyne, Stevens, J. Ballantyne and Mc Nab.

MANDELL KNOCKS OUT PARNEC AT LYNN SHOW

Tony Mandell of Worcester scored a technical knockout over Frank Parnee of Providence in the fourth round of the final event of the Casino A. C. show at Lynn. Johnny Fox of Woburn dropped Kid Hilton of Fall River for the count in the second round of the semi-final.

Other results: Tommy Duffy of Revere beat Jimmy Manning of South Boston, eight rounds; Joe Goss of Fort Banks beat Jimmy Kenny of Revere, eight rounds; George Segal of Revere beat Battling Punch O'Neil of West Lynn, eight rounds.

BARNES TAKES PRO JOB AT TEMPLE TERRACE, FLA.

Jim Barnes, national open champion of 1921, accepted an offer to serve as golf professional at the Temple Terrace Country Club, near Tampa, Fla., the coming Winter. This club is situated only a few miles from Tampa proper. Barnes will begin his new duties about the first of the year.

Long Jim is one of America's ranking professionals. In winning the 1921 title with a card of 289, Barnes defeated the second man, Walter Hagen, by six strokes. The final Barnes was closed by telegraph from Tampa by D. C. Gillett, of the Temple Terrace Club.

Sets New Swim Record

In winning the 150-yard backstroke swimming championship of England recently at Southport in 1:48 1-5, A. Rawlinson of Garston lowered the English record by 2 1-5 seconds. J. Worthing of Garston was second and G. W. Webster of Sheffield third.

SHARKEY AND MALONEY IN FINAL WORKOUTS FOR GO

By JACK CONWAY.

JACK SHARKEY and Jim Maloney, New England's premier heavyweights, will finish their training today for their ten-round battle, which will be staged tomorrow night at Mechanics Building under the direction of the Suffolk A. A. Only light work was in order for today as the rival heavyweights are each in razor edge condition and eager for the sound of the bell that will send them into action.

It is the first time in years that New England has shown such interest in a heavyweight match. The fact that Sharkey and Maloney rate with the leading contenders for a bout with Dempsey is what has stirred up so much interest in this match. Then, too, Sharkey and Maloney have each bowled over a flock of opposition.

Sharkey has defeated Floyd Johnson, Eddie Record, Al Roberts and Homer Smith. His tremendous speed and ability to hit from all angles have been the chief factors in his rapid rise to fame. He is also only twenty-two years of age which means he has his ring career all before him.

Maloney, like Sharkey, is only twenty-two years old. He is a big, powerful fellow with a real hand-to-hand punch which would do credit to a champion. This is the punch that enabled him to win over Joe Stoessel at Jersey City and to later crash the fighting spirit of Tom Gardner and Joe McCann.

Will speed or the old punch gain the victory tomorrow night?

* * *

TOM KIRBY, Olympic boxing star, will meet the toughest opposition of his colorful career when he mingles with Jackie Clark of Allentown, Pa., in the semi-final. Kirby has engaged in ten bouts since he joined the ranks of the professionals. Jack McLellan was his opponent on each occasion. Both contests resulted in Kirby victories. The first tussle was close, in the second the Olympic hero had McLellan on the canvas a record-breaking number of times.

Clark is a much better fighter than McLellan and will give Kirby the acid test. Clark has battled Tom Gibbons, Harry Greb, George Robinson, Pal Reed and other ring worthies. He will have experience on his side tomorrow night. Kirby, though, says youth, supported by a punch and courage, will win.

Sammy Fuller of the North End, whom Tom Geodwin chills will be the next bantamweight champion, will oppose Charley Baxter of Woonsocket in an eight-rounder. Another eight-round bout will matter Wolf of Roxbury, a protege of Sharkey's, battling Martin Flaherty, Jr., of Wamsuit. Bart O'Neil of Roxbury will collide with one of our local middleweights in another eight.

* * *

JACK MacCORMACK writes:

"Bob Lowrie, the Scotch champion, who in his last start amazed ring followers when he knocked out the much-heralded Scoops White of Worcester, today demanded that Eddie Shevlin or the latter's manager, Billy Henderson, come out from their hiding places.

"Ever since Lowrie's victory over White the Scot has sought a chance at Shevlin and his title, but the Roxbury professor has demanded impossible terms. Lowrie claims that Shevlin is dodging him, and the Dartmouth instructor's tactics seem to evidence that there is some truth in the claim of the lad from the land of the thistle.

"Lowrie's final decision is that Shevlin, if he no cherishes his title so as to be unwilling to risk it, must accept terms so that some club can reasonably accept the match, or else the Scot will claim Shevlin's title."

HARVARD CREWS ARRANGED FOR THE SEASON

Coach Ed Stevens of the Harvard crew has announced the seating of his first three boats for the remainder of the Fall season.

On the first crew, there are several veterans of last year's clash with Yale at New Haven. Bob Winthrop is still at stroke and Captain Sylvester B. Kelley and George Johnson are at bow and number five, respectively.

The three eights are now seated as follows:

Crew X—Stroke, Robert Winthrop '26; 7, Geoffrey Platt '27; 6, J. W. Gates '27; 5, G. R. Johnson '25; 4, D. C. Gates '26; 3, O. F. Richter '26; 2, C. O'D Wells '26; bow, S. B. Kelley '25; cox., C. S. Heard '25.

Crew Y—Stroke, W. K. Rice '27; 7, J. R. Hovey '27; 6, P. P. Weymer '26; 5, F. L. Barton '26; 4, Richard Trimble, Jr., '26; 3, R. H. Ames '26; 2, J. A. Crooks '25; bow, H. C. Pierce '27; cox., A. W. Carvilla '25.

Crew Z—Stroke, Barrett Scudder '27; 7, Kent Leavitt '26; 6, C. P. Dearington '26; 5, J. P. Hubbard '26; 4, W. J. Milde '25; 3, D. H. Bowles '27; 2, Elisha Canning '26; bow, G. D. Krumbhaar '26; cox., W. E. Beer '26.

FIRPO AND WEINERT SIGN UP FOR BATTLE

Newark, N. J., Nov. 4.—Luis Angel Firpo will meet Charles Weinert, Newark heavyweight, in a twelve-round, no-decision bout at the Newark Armory on November 12, the National Sportsmen's Club has announced.

FORDHAM HAPPY OVER DEFEAT GIVEN N. Y. U.

New York, Nov. 4.—Having carved a niche in the Hall of Fame in the form of a 27 to 0 victory over New York University, Frank Gargan's Fordham eleven is hopeful of riding through the rest of its schedule in winning style. The Maroon eleven has steadily improved since the season's beginning and against N. Y. U. it was unstoppable.

With the exception of a lame ankle suffered by Paul Brennan, the newly appointed Maroon captain, Coach Gargan's charges emerged from Saturday's fray practically unscathed. Brennan, after playing a wonder game for three periods, was taken from the field because of his injury.

Joe Manning and "Zev" Graham, two of the most important cogs in the Maroon backfield were also taken out before the end of the battle. Manning's back, which had not entirely recovered from a sprain incurred early in the season, suffered from a renewal of the old injury.

To Maroon rooters the most gratifying part of the game was the offensive power shown by the Fordham eleven. Defensively, with the exception of the Boston College game, the line has been of the variety, having held three opponents to no first downs and the strong Holy Cross team to a mere five.

Yanks Get Checks

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Final distribution of checks in the 1924 World's Series was made by Baseball Commissioner Landis to the New York Yankees, second place finishers in the American League. The total amount was $24,881.94, which was divided into twenty-three shares at $1,082.18.

NOTRE DAME-ILLINOIS STILL OUT FRONT

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Illinois and Notre Dame remained the dominant teams in the Middle West as a result of the week-end games. California and Stanford continued to rule the coast, but the East and South remained in a muddle. In the two latter regions, the situation, if any, features at least three teams that have a chance for the sectional title; in the others, definite contenders already have been developed and outlined by the season's play to date.

In this section Illinois and Notre Dame are the only contenders in sight, although Marquette has its hopes. The Illinois, however, just about clinched the big title by its overwhelming victory over Iowa, and seemingly Chicago and Ohio State, neither of which are particularly strong, are the only outfits that stand between Zuppke and another championship.

Chicago still is tied with the Illinois at two stanzas each, but the Maroon has one tie game, where Illinois has none, and the respective showings of the two teams indicate a down State decision when they meet next Saturday.

Penn's victory over Lafayette served to demonstrate the Pennsylvania entry as one, if not the only, bellow in the East. Seemingly, Pennsylvania has its best team since 1919, and will go through the season unbeaten if it can climb over Cornell on Thanksgiving Day.

On the coast, California maintained its four-year record unblemished by taking Southern California, 7 to 0. The team from Los Angeles literally was loaded for bear in this game, but couldn't quite make the rifle against the champions. The Stanford-California game therefore became all the more important. Warner's entry having defeated Santa Clara.

In the South, Georgia and Alabama again came to the fore with respective victories over Tennessee and Mississippi by generous scores. The general situation in the South, however, is about as clear as a perfectly good bottle of ink.

CALIFORNIA HAS LONGEST UNBEATEN RECORD TO DATE

Another long string of victories was brought to an end last Saturday when the Marquette eleven was defeated by Creighton 21 to 7. The Western team had gone through nearly four campaigns without a loss, numbering among its victims Boston College last year and the Navy this season, when disaster overtook it. The broken string of Marquette, which followed closely on the first defeat Cornell had suffered since 1920, leaves the University of California with the longest unbroken record. The Golden Bears of the Pacific coast have gone through two seasons without a defeat and in that period have been tied only twice, by Washington and Jefferson and by Nevada.

TUFTS ELEVEN DRILLS FOR BOWDOIN CONTEST

Encouraged by its victory over Wesleyan, Tufts started preparations for the Bowdoin contest next Saturday at Brunswick. The only casualty was Jack Wilson, whose wrenched knee may keep him off Saturday. Norman Reed is expected to rejoin the squad tomorrow.

Walter Cleary was pleased with the showing the Tufts forward line made and said no changes will be made.

R. P. I. Swimming Schedule

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Swarthmore and Boston University are newcomers on Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's swimming schedule as announced today. The schedule follows: January 17, Williams; 31, Swarthmore; February 27, Spring field at Springfield, Mass.; 28, Boston University at Boston; March 2, Union at Schenectady.

SPORT WORLD IN TRIBUTE TO REP. CANTY

Legislators, public officials and men prominent in athletics today paused in the rush of election day to pay tribute to the memory of Representative William A. Canty of Roxbury who passed away just as the voters of his district were about to elect him for the third time.

It is seldom that a young man is able to win the confidence of the voters to such a degree as that gained by Representative Canty. In the recent primaries, with four opponents in the field against him, he lead the ticket despite the fact he was unable to do any campaigning on account of illness. He received the largest vote ever given to a candidate for public office from Roxbury.

Perhaps this was due to the new creed that Billy Canty—and that's how he was known to everybody in Roxbury—introduced into politics.

"I shall never say an unkind thing about a political opponent, or anybody else," Representative Canty once said.

As he never did. Even those who at times wronged him received only words of praise and kindness from his lips.

It was only natural that when Representative Canty was taken ill last Summer that his friends rallied to his aid. Headed by his sister, Miss Helen Canty, secretary to Congressman Tinkham, they helped in giving their leader his remarkable vote.

Representative Canty's name is on the ballot today even though his ups are closed forever. If he had lived, he would have been elected as his victory in the primaries was so sweeping that no opposition was in the field. As it is, thousands of persons will mark a cross beside his name today, not that he may take office, but as a tribute to one whom they admired as a legislator and loved as a friend.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Jamaica Plain.

GEORGETOWN WILL MEET UNIV. OF PENN SATURDAY

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—With the Lafayette contest a thing of the past, the University of Pennsylvania football team started to prepare for the Georgetown game, which comes on Saturday afternoon. The game will mark the third meeting between the two institutions. In 1919 Pennsylvania won, 12 to 0, and a year later registered a 46-to-0 triumph. Since that time the two institutions have met in virtually every sport except football.

Georgetown is coached by Lou Little, one of the best backs ever turned out of Pennsylvania, who since leaving the university has turned high school and professional teams. This is his first year taking with a college eleven. Little is well versed in the Pennsylvania system of offense and defense, as a result of his three years' experience under Bob Folwell and Dr. Buch Wharton when the former was head coach and the latter line coach at Pennsylvania.

FOUR HIGH SCHOOL GAMES ON AT NEW YORK TODAY

New York, Nov. 4.—The four big schoolboy classics of the year will be decided today as usual, two of them in Brooklyn and two in New York. The eight contending elevens are ancient rivals and annually they play to crowds which would do credit to a big college game. Election day promises to provide a bigger spectacle than ever before for the Manhattan half of the big schoolboy football day with a double-header at the Yankee Stadium.

The contesting teams will be Stuyvesant and De Witt Clinton and Commerce and Morris, with the latter pair going on the field at 1 p. m. In Brooklyn Erasmus faces Manual and Commercial tackles Boys' High. Stuyvesant, on its record this season, is favored to defeat Clinton, while Morris is the favorite in the other game.

GENERALS TO SEE MARINES PLAY DICKINSON COLLEGE

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—A military spectacle that has not been witnessed in this city since the Army-Navy game in 1922 will take place this afternoon when the United States marines football team from Quantico meets the Dickinson College eleven on Franklin Field.

Practically the entire Marine Corps and others in official life will be present when the game starts. Major-General John A. Lejeune, Commandant of the Marine Corps; Major General Smedley D. Butler, Director of Public Safety in this city, and a number of others are expected to witness the battle.

LEE AND CORVETTE IN SALEM BOUTS

George (Kid) Lee, New England lightweight champion, will clash with Bernie Corvette of Manchester, N. H., in a ten-round bout at the New Arena A. C. of Salem on Friday night. Ed Northrop has been named matchmaker of the Salem club.

BOSTON TO SHARE IN GREAT NATIONAL COUNTRY CLUB

$5,000,000 BUILDING FOR N.Y.

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY.

New York, Nov. 4 A great sport project, to be known as the New Town and Country Club, has progressed to such an extent that plans will shortly be drawn for a club house in the heart of this city at a cost of $5,000,000.

Plans are now in various stages of progress for clubs in nine other leading cities of this country and Canada. With respective memberships from nearby cities where the club houses will be built, a total membership of 40,000 is anticipated.

In addition to the New York charter, it is now planned to have chapters in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburg, St. Louis, Montreal and Minneapolis. All the chapters will be on a reciprocal basis, allowing members of any one chapter to avail themselves of the privileges of all others.

WILL AID ATHLETICS

Officials of the organization, which will have prominent men of financial connections all in readiness, and all over the world in the various cities back of it, described the project today thus:

"Briefly the National Town and Country Club is a refinement and enlargement of the athletic and country club idea to a degree of usefulness and efficiency heretofore unattempted. The idea of such an organization was first developed by ex-Ambassador Myron T. Herrick and associates when the plan for the all big cities chapters was settled at the annual meeting of the directors of the Metropolitan Athletic Club.

"In connection it may be explained that membership is granted through invitation only.

"Spacious town clubs with the finest gymnasium and athletic equipment together with country features, and country clubs with all of the best golf courses are included in the plan."

J. G. Loomis, well known in athletics in chairman of the National Athletic Committee and is playing a leading part. The select list of approximately twenty-five prominent men in each city to form the nucleus of the various chapters. Much progress has been made in New York, Detroit and Cleveland already.

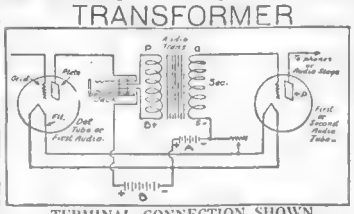
WIRING THE AUDIO TRANSFORMER



TERMINAL CONNECTION SHOWN

Here you see those puzzling letters that are on audio transformers. The jack may be used as omitted as desired. The B battery negative connects to the positive or negative of the A battery according to the hookup of the tuning unit.

CONNECTIONS TO AUDIO TRANSFORMERS

The proper method of connecting ... transformers in a receiving ... seems to puzzle many fans who ... should be a fairly easy task. There are a number of hookups and differ in some detail or other, but the method of connecting the audio frequency transformer in an amplifier is the same for practically each and every circuit.

The primary connections of audio transformers are marked "P" and "B." Sometimes the "B" connection ...

... of audio frequency the "P" connection does not always run from ... plate of the tube to the transformer, ... through an ... jack and a tickler coil or a ... tapped coil, to secure regeneration.

The secondary of the transformer is marked "G" and "Fil" or "A." The "G" connection is always ... to the grid ... of the ... tube. The "Fil" or "A" ... is ... to the ... of the tube ...

SHORT LEADS WILL GIVE THE BEST RESULTS

In building any radio set make all wire leads as short as possible. The small number of radio sets ... this ... is ... proves ... fraction of an inch ... when the connections ... parts together.

All connecting wires permit losses in the set, no matter how short they are. It would be ideal if the leads could be cut so that no leads at all are necessary.

As this can not be done, make the wires all as short as possible.

WHERE YOUR NOISES MIGHT BE FOUND

Strange noises in a radio set are frequently quite difficult to trace, and they may be due to many sources. There is a scratchy sound which is caused by loose contacts in the phone cords, or imperfect connection to the "A" battery.

Sometimes the trouble is caused by an accumulation of dirt on the ... of the tubes, which causes them to make a microphonic con... in the sockets.

"It's what I wanted to know, Nora Lee. That's why I'm asking about it. You're going to college. You'll get in with Connie's crowd. All they think about is dancing and drinking. You'll meet ever so many fellows—they'll fall for you—"

"I'm not very attractive—"

"Why do your think I'll do things, Dane?"

"Everyone does—mostly, except the digs and the pelicans. I'm not very good at saying what I think or what I feel, Nora Lee, but you're so different now, and if you don't stay this way—"

She said in a dazed, hurried way: "Oh, I won't change. If this is the way you like me, this is the way I'll stay. Oh, Dane, I would rather die than to do any thing—any single thing to hurt it—"

Irma flung back her head in interruption.

"I'm not afraid," she declared. I'm sure. I know I can't conquer my feeling for Tom, and that nothing anyone could say would be bad enough or terrible enough to stop me—"

Irma broke off abruptly. Her face went crimson as she realized how much she had confessed. But I made haste to reassure the point at once.

3-MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

THE present address of the American bartender is Paris, France. In their zeal to enjoy American drinks and American music and American dances the French are in danger of making their town so American that there will be no kick in it for our tourists who go abroad to get change.

When the eager tourist takes a guide and a reluctant taxi and ac-cords to the Place Pigalle he finds himself led to the cafe de luxe of Mr. Jones or Mr. Murphy. Former American saloon keepers are en-trenched in the neighborhood of the Rat Mort and L'Abbaye to the ex-tent that any night in those famous resorts looks like Good Friday. The only real competition that the Jones and Murphys are having on Montmartre comes from the Rus-sians, who also have made a pro-nounced impression on the night life of New York.

These former Broadway saloon keepers bring to Paris a gift for charging their customers exorbi-tant prices that the most brazen Broadway restaurateurs cannot ap-proach.

Coming from prohibition New York where liquor, when procurable, sells at almost prohibitive prices, they charge those same prices in Paris, where prohibition is un-known, and where the gullible tour-ist could purchase wines at a thousand shops for one-tenth of what the burly Franco-American buccaneers demand for it.

Once past the portal of the new Montmartre Cafe, you will find a negro band from Broadway hanging out the latest Forty-second street jazz and American cabaret girls singing the most recent New York musicale comedy hits. The cus-tomers do not look or act any dif-ferent from those who patronize the New York night clubs.

And despite the depreciation of the franc, American prices prevail along the usual tourist paths. The visitor who speaks French and can wander off into the quarters so un-fortunate as not to draw the Yankee visitors will be astounded at the difference in the cost of things.

Despite all this, Paris has not held so many American travelers since the war as this season.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner

Dr. F. X. Mahoney

YOUR child, boy or girl, on the threshold of life, is at the be-ginning of a very long foot journey.

To make this long journey, it is highly neces-sary that the feet shall be in perfect condi-tion.

One of the most important things that you as a mother can do is test your child's feet, especially if the child has reached the age of four years.

Take a piece of plain white paper. Smoke one side of it thoroughly by holding it around above the flame of a candle or of a coal oil lamp until the under side of the sheet is black. Then lay this sheet flat, black side up, on a hard floor. Have the child stand squarely on the sheet with both feet. The black-ened paper will show in white a contour of the sole of the foot, in-dicating the line of the foot.

If the arches of the feet are nor-mal there will be little or no impres-sion of the inner half of the sole directly under the instep.

If there is an impression of the whole sole, the probabilities are that the arch is defective.

If defective arches are detected at this period of life, the condition is easily and permanently corrected. It is extraordinarily fortunate for the child that, in the hands of a competent orthopedist—a surgeon who looks after such things—the treatment is not only painless, but does not interfere with the child's normal activity.

If you recognize these facts and act upon them you will save not only the comfort but the efficiency of your children for long years to come.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

What are the principal ways of keeping disease germs from spread-ing?
J. F. F.

By quarantining or isolating the person, one by each person himself, and by cleanliness.

Did you ever hear of bad teeth being the cause of rheumatism? How could I find out for sure if they are causing my trouble?
MRS. T. E. P.
Boston.

Yes, teeth are frequently the cause of rheumatism. Have a dentist inspect that you have them X-rayed.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

News: The suggestion made in this column that, in the interest of honesty in business, all commercial paper be registered with Federal reserve banks is to be considered by a conference of reserve board governors at Washington this month. The matter will be brought up by Governor Wellborn of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta and will be indorsed by some and opposed by others.

Methods now followed in issuing and buying commercial paper in this country are so loose and happy-go-lucky that concerns sometimes contrive to lend up banks and other purchasers with untold amounts. The buyer may have no idea of how far the borrower has gone beyond the limits of prudence issuing such obligations—the Claflin failure furnishes the most memorable example. Also, no measures are taken to make sure that a piece of commercial paper offered was authorized and executed by the proper officers of the concerns whose name appears on the obligation. Obviously, this whole lack-of-system calls for remedial action.

* * *

The plan suggested in this column has drawn both approval and criticism from heads of Federal Reserve Banks.

* * *

Governor Wellborn of Atlanta, writes in part:

"I read your article on this subject, as printed in the Atlanta Georgian-American. I am interested in the matter, and see no reason why the reserve banks should not undertake this service for the business public. Perhaps each reserve bank could register papers originating in its own district, and, as a practical matter, could make a small charge to cover the extra expense incurred in performing this work.

"I think your suggestion is a wise one; and when I go to Washington in November to attend the conference of Reserve Bank Governors, I shall take pleasure in bringing this matter before them for consideration.

"Very truly yours,

"M. B. WELLBORN."

Governor W. P. G. Harding of the Boston Reserve Bank agrees that there should be some means of registering commercial paper, but is not sure that the Federal Reserve Banks are the proper parties to do it. He suggests that the American Bankers' Association might better undertake the task. In his letter he says:

"I assume, of course, that it is your thought that Federal Reserve Banks should act merely as registrars and in this way evidence the genuineness of the paper offered on the market, without assuming any moral responsibility as to the desirability of the paper as an investment.

"I agree with you that there should be some means of registering commercial paper, but I am not clear that this is a function which should devolve upon the Federal Reserve Banks.

"I do not think that it would be desirable for Federal Reserve Banks to assume even remotely the moral responsibility for passing upon the desirability of paper. The granting of credit in the first instance is essentially the function of commercial banks, and if paper which is to be offered to them should first be registered in a Federal Reserve Bank it would in my opinion make very difficult to disabuse the minds of the public from the idea that the Reserve Bank was in some way passing upon the desirability of the paper.

"May I suggest that the American Bankers' Association with its large membership, which includes non-members of the Federal Reserve System as well as members, and with its ample income, might with greater propriety organize a bureau of its own which could examine the applications of registrars of commercial paper. Very truly yours,

"W. P. G. HARDING."

Governor Seay of the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank writes in part:

"The by-your-note system must be put in bing expanded to protect the public from swindling schemes of every character, as they now are. I have no doubt that still more needs to be done and can be done, notwithstanding 'a sucker is born every minute.'

"I confess, however, that the supposition you present requires serious consideration on my part than I have given to it to entitle me to express an opinion. All of the various aspects would have to be taken into account, of course. Sincerely yours,

"GEORGE F. SEAY."

* * *

Governor Fancher of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York says that the registration of paper, but he, too, is not sure that the Federal Reserve Banks should act as registrars. He writes:

"I quite agree with you that it would be highly desirable to have paper sold in the open market by note brokers registered by some substantial concern. I recall that some years ago an effort was made by the larger substantial paper-buying banks and some of the leading note brokers to have commercial paper registered, but, as I recall, considerable opposition was experienced and nothing definite was done.

"There is no question in my mind but what the Federal Reserve Banks would be glad to have paper registered at the commercial paper offered in the open market, but I have some doubts as to whether it would be desirable for them to enter into such an arrangement.

"Very truly yours,

"E. R. FANCHER."

The outcome of the discussion of this important subject at this month's conference of Federal Reserve Governors will be awaited by the financial and business community with keen interest.

PROSPERITY IN MAKING OF JEWELRY

By FRANK H. MELJON, Financial Editor.

I hear that small jewelry manufacturers in New England have been doing remarkably well the last few months. From one such jewelry manufacturer I learn that he made $7,000 in the past year from his factory employing seven girls, and this profit was shown after he had deducted all expenses, including a credit of $100 a week as his own salary.

Reaching figures of $166,667,971, automotive exports for the first nine months of this year are within $6,000,000 of the total shipments for the entire year of 1923, according to the Automotive Division of the Department of Commerce. Exports for 1923 amounted to about $170,000,000 and will be greatly exceeded by the totals for the present year.

September exports were valued at $16,251,566, a slight decrease from the figure for August. Shipments so far this year have fluctuated materially month by month, rising steadily from January to April, falling from May to July, rising again in August and once more receding very slightly in September. The figures are as follows: January, $18,465,282; February, $19,566,226; March $21,226,273; April, $22,829,350; May, $20,962,227; June, $14,524; July, $14,758,142; August, $16,310,641; September, $16,251,566.

Productions of cars and trucks in United States and Canada increased during September, but exports were less than in August. Consequently the ratio of exports to production in September was 6.3 per cent., as compared with 6.6 per cent. during August. Production was 288,004, as compared with 271,928 in August.

Assemblies of American cars and trucks for foreign purchasers are increased this month by the addition of figures from a large American producer, the sales in plants operated by this company at London and Copenhagen being included in the official figures for the first time.

Also for the last time the release of passenger cars and motor trucks show decreases in September as compared with August. Exports were "passenger cars valued now $900 to $2,000," "commercial cars" and "motor trucks with capacity over two and one-half tons." The total decrease was not great, amounting to less than 6.0 in passenger cars and only forty-five in trucks.

BETTER SELLING OF AUTOS LOOKED FOR

Automotive industries will say this week: "Some improvement in the sale of automobiles will probably follow the election, but a marked advance in volume can be expected from now until the close of the year. Pre-election inactivity has been felt in all branches of the automotive industry as it has in other lines and to an extent has retarded sales. Despite this, however, business has held well to the normal seasonal curve."

TIMBER LOSSES BY FIRES RUN TO MILLIONS

New York, Nov. 4 (U.N.S.)—Forest fire toll in the autumn woods, made tinder by nearly a month of warm, dry weather—a period of drought unprecedented in a half-century—mounted into the millions today as the flames continued to spread over country estates in six Eastern States.

Thousands of acres of valuable timber have been destroyed before the sweep of fire, free in Massachusetts and nearly as many in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Maryland.

The situation in Connecticut and Maryland was reported about under control today, but in other States governor fiames were called to prevent the spread of the flames, which in some instances were threatening towns.

Mont Ivy, a village in the Ramapo Hills of New York, was threatened and the advance of fire there was combatted by the gang hired workers who last night fought to save the home of Senator Royal S. Copeland.

A thousand men were called by fire warden Abe Stern, who was directing them in the use of dynamite, to blast a path before the fire, which would serve as a barrier against its advance.

Arden, New York, brought out a band of volunteer workers to check the fires which were threatening the estates of Roland N. Harriman, Arden Homestead and Arden House. Harriman himself led the fight.

Wife Digs Post Holes, Dry Sleuths Find Rum Cache

Chicago, Nov. 4—Mrs. Mary Kasper dug holes in her backyard.

She explained that they were post-holes, and husbands of the neighborhood generally said they wished they had wives who were handy around the garden.

But when Mrs. Kasper dug post-holes at night, dug post-holes in the small hours of the morning, the neighbors' wives became suspicious.

PHAFF, HELD AS RUM PIRATE, GETS BAIL

5 INJURED AS EX-GOV. SMITH FLEES FIRE

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 4.—Four firemen, trapped beneath the falling roof, nearly lost their lives today during a fire that destroyed the quarter-million-dollar mansion on "Seven Acres" in the estate of former Governor Edward Curtis Smith.

The former Governor, who is president of the Central Vermont Railway, together with Mrs. Smith, their son Edward and the eight servants of the household, left breakfast unbeaten, to flee the flames.

Edward, in attempting to rescue an oil portrait of his mother at the height of the fire, severed an artery in his right leg when he kicked an opening in a French door.

He was sent to the St. Albans Hospital with the four badly burned firemen, who were dug out of the flaming ruins by their fellows.

The fire started from an unexplained cause and had a three-quarter headway when the horse-drawn fire apparatus reached the scene. Only thirty-five pounds water pressure could be secured on one line and aid was summoned from Burlington.

SUSPECTS CALL FOR FOOD IN R. I. TOWN

Cumberland, R. I., Nov. 4.—Three men answering the description of the bandits who last Saturday attempted to rob the Wrentham National Bank and shot James E. Carpenter, the cashier, applied for food at a hotel here today.

After receiving and paying for their breakfast, the men, whose clothing was torn as if from wandering through the woods, went away.

The hotel clerk notified the police and a search for them was begun.

Wrentham, Nov. 4.—Firm in the belief that the gang of would-be bank robbers who entered the local bank last Saturday, shot the aged cashier and then fled without any loot, are in Rhode Island, Chief of Police Ruggles and State officers are scouring that State for them.

Chief Ruggles has found that another automobile met the fleeing bandits at the corner of River and Broad streets, Rehoboth, about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. There the bandits abandoned the big Hudson touring car in which they fled from here and went away in the other car.

Jacus Kammerer and his wife, living within a hundred yards of the spot where the bandits changed automobiles, stated to investigators today that they heard two automobiles drive up about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. There was some talking, following which one auto sped away in the direction of Providence.

Mrs. Warren Swift also heard the cars and the loud talking. Other nearby residents were awakened by the noise, but none investigated, thinking "petters" were on the job.

Monday James, aged 19, the wounded cashier, passed a fairly restful day, his physician reported. He is far from out of danger and is running a high fever. Until the fever drops there is little hope for his life.

OCTOBER FAILURES LESS THAN MONTH YEAR AGO

A larger number of commercial failures in the United States invariably occurs during the closing months of a year and the October total reported to R. G. Dun & Co. exceeds that of any preceding month since last May. Numbering 1,696, last month's defaults compare with 1,206 in September, while the liabilities rose from $34,286,276 to $36,098,-904. In point of number, the October failures increased about 20 per cent. above those of September, which marked the low level this year, and the indebtedness was swelled by 3 per cent.

This is a better showing than was made in October of last year, when the 1,673 failures were 26½ per cent. above the number for September, and the liabilities of $79,301,741 were larger than the aggregate for that month.

U. S. TO INSIST ON ITS REPARATIONS SHARE

Washington, Nov. 4 (U.N.S.)—The American representatives to the forthcoming Paris conference on the allocation of reparations payments will be instructed to protect the interests of this country, it was declared at the White House this afternoon.

The United States claims against Germany are for the maintenance of the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine and for damage to American citizens and business firms as a result of the war.

French chateau, where it was killed by the keepers of the place.

That should interest Uncle Sam. The eagle is his bird. And the day is coming when eagles and crows are not to be the only fighters in the air.

The sight of a noble eagle pursued by 5,000 miserable crows, and finally killed, isn't pleasant.

There might be more unpleasant sights, in this country, if we had war and our enemies, east or west, began releasing their flying machines to deal with the American eagle here.

CALLS HIS 500 ROOSTERS BY NAME

Thieves Took Some, and Now Oscar, Jake and Mike Are Beyond Call

No two young roosters look alike. This statement is made emphatically by George Hooper of Wenham street, Danvers.

Hooper is a poultry raiser, and as a name originator he is as resourceful as the man who christens Pullman cars.

In Hooper's flock are 500 cockerels and he maintains that each has different facial characteristics, likewise each has a name to which he responds.

Just now, Oscar, Jake and Mike, three of the cockerels, are missing and that is the reason for Hooper's sorrow.

Joseph Griffin, a neighboring farmer, now takes the stage. He is acquainted with the Hooper flock and he has proved that he can recognize Hooper's birds, even though they be mixed in with hundreds of others.

A raid on the Hooper poultry houses had cost him twenty-one cockerels. Later Griffin noticed eighteen of his feathered neighbors in crates with other birds in the store of Morris Bluestein, Tremont street, Lynn, when he went by.

When Bluestein was questioned by the police he said he bought the birds from Walter Swan and Harold E. Bartlett, both of Lynnfield street, Peabody. They were arraigned in the Salem District Court today and sentenced to one year in the House of Correction by Judge Sears. They appealed.

Hooper restored the eighteen cockerels to his flock. But Oscar, Jake and Mike are missing.

YOUTH'S DEATH IN GIRL'S AUTO DUE TO FOG

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 4.—Fog was blamed today for the accident in which Charles H. Rogers, son of a White Plains, N. Y., clergyman and nephew of Mrs. Ogden M. Reid, of New York, was killed and riding in the motor car of Miss Marjorie Schneider, twenty-three-year-old New Haven society girl.

Rogers died of Miss Schneider screaming on the Hartford Turnpike, and Rogers, a bond salesman, grabbing over the steering wheel of her car. He died later in a hospital here.

A fractured skull, doctors said, caused death. The windshield of the automobile was broken and the door smashed.

Friends of the girl were indignant today because the authorities held Miss Schneider in jail without bail for twenty-four hours.

Miss Schneider said she supposed Rogers had seen something loom suddenly ahead of him out of the fog and had applied the brakes. The sudden stop, she surmised, pitched him through the windshield. She said she fainted, and remembered little else.

STOCK FAKIRS' NEMESIS JUST SAVES HOME

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 4.—Frank Norfleet, ranchman and deputy sheriff at Hale Center, who lost one fortune and nearly another in a deal with Sam, was saved his home from a creditor. A bank, made hard in time, resulted in lifting the mortgage as a foreclosure suit was to be filed.

Norfleet, carrying $42,000 in cash in a Fort Worth bank, felt in with four fake stock salesmen and market "pools" in 1919. Tipped off by them, he saw small investments soar to large sums and then was persuaded to risk his entire fortune. The fake market wires ticked, his stock fell, the bogus salesmen and investment agents fled with the $45,000.

Placing a mortgage on his home, Norfleet took up the chase. One he caught in Florida, another in Utah, another in California, another in Washington. He travelled 18,000 miles in the pursuit during a period of three years. All of the "salesmen" have been convicted and three are in prison or are dead.

HUMAN VOICE ARTIFICIALLY REPRODUCED

London, Eng., Attorney Invents a Substitute for the Larynx Which Speaks

"By GRACE DESCHAMPS

Rubber, wax and plaster have been made to speak!

In these three things has the human tongue been reproduced.

Squeeze a little bulb and it says: "Mother," "Weather" and "Harry." And a voice has been given the mute!

A startling discovery in the science of sounds, by Sir Richard A. Paget, a London attorney, has set American physicists guessing.

If Sir Richard succeeds in reproducing all the vowels and consonants of the human tongue, he will have broken, for all time, the wall of silence between the mute and his more fortunate brethern.

BUILT LARYNX.

The finished product which the English inventor declares he will present to the world, will be an electrically operated device, which will give forth combinations of vowels and consonants—in the completed word—upon the touch of a button.

The instrument devised by Paget is a resonator—a bell-shaped mould of adjustable, the walls of which vibrate to, and intensify any sound produced in it.

With further modification, the resonator took on the shape of the cavity of the human mouth, fitted in the bottom, which converges to a point, with an air passage. Over the air passage he built a larynx—the human organ of voice—with a thin sheet of rubber and wax.

COMPLETES WORDS.

The pressure and quick release of the bulb-like device resulted in the production of the soft vowels of the human voice.

The artificial larynx—just as it does in the human throat—gave out various sounds as it changed its position.

By further study of sounds, Sir Richard succeeded in producing the consonants, finally combining the two, to effect a complete word.

The last model consisted of four resonators, which produced the vowels and consonants in conjunction. The inventor plans eventually to substitute electricity for the crude hand-manipulation which now operates it.

Dr. Roger Tileston, for many years a State teacher of deaf-mutes, declared Sir Richard's device promises a new era for the person unable to speak.

WORDS FOR DUMB.

"The possibilities sound tremendous," declared Miss Ida Ayres. "Many of us who have been working among the mutes realize keenly the huge difference between people who talk and people who can't.

"They are hopelessly separated from the rest of society, no matter how easily they may get along together.

"Such a device as Dr. Paget's would mean putting speech into the mouths of dumb people. It would do away with all sign-language which is unintelligible to the average person. It would mean

"I cannot think of anything more practical or wonderful, than something as instrumental as Paget describes."

1,000 PATIENTS IN HOSPITAL GET APPLES

Chamber of Commerce Sends Gifts to Invalids as Drive Opens

The monotony of lying bedridden in a hospital was broken for more than a thousand patients when the campaign to popularize the New England apple was carried to the sick room.

Under the leadership of Howard Coonley, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, a group of volunteer workers carried apples to the patients of the City Hospital and to the New England Home for Little Wanderers, while other groups of workers took cheer and apple sauce to the Children's Hospital and to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

For the most part, the apples were served, at the request of physicians, in the form of sauce, or baked. Chime, pipe, and bells rang from 49 cents to the office of The Boston American or to any of the others listed below.

A Citizen's Duty to Go and Cast His Vote

Our forefathers had more than a hundred years' training in self-government before they founded this Republic. They were collectively more courageous, progressive, sagacious than any other builders of a nation that ever lived, and in many respects their wisdom and foresight are unexcelled by their successors anywhere.

The four corners of the matchless edifice they built and left to us, their heirs, were liberty, equality, education, industry. They "had a mind to work" and they were also willing to fight, if necessary, for what they believed to be their rights.

One of the laws that they enacted was that every citizen that failed to vote, or take part in the choice of a government for his country, should be fined or put in jail or in the stocks for several hours.

We wish there were some such impelling motive today to drive people to the polls. Certainly one who does not vote when he can should make no criticism of his government.

Our wondrous history as a nation has again and again proved that after full discussion of any issue in the free American way, the wisdom of the many is always surer and safer than the wisdom of the few, or of any class.

Mr. Davis, brilliant orator and able lawyer has failed to dramatize the great opportunity for a genuine Democratic campaign. He adopted a campaign of old-fashioned political attacks and has talked pleasing, glittering generalities. He has proposed no constructive progressive program. His campaign has failed, therefore, and many Democrats will vote, when compelled to make such a choice, for Mr. Coolidge, who is in harmony with his party and a man of strong will, tenacious convictions, conservative judgment and good character, rather than vote for a more brilliant reactionary Democrat like Mr. Davis.

Mr. La Follette has made the most brilliant and vigorous campaign. He is undoubtedly a sincere progressive, and it must be remembered that Franklin, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln were the most outspoken radicals in their day. He has said nothing more critical of the Supreme Court than Abraham Lincoln said, and nothing approaching in violence the denunciations of the Supreme Court by Thomas Jefferson in his day. And yet all of these men proved to be safe leaders, invaluable moral forces.

He will not be elected, but will get a very large vote today, and his campaign will have an important effect on the course of events in the next four years.

Mr. Coolidge's campaign has greatly added to the popular conception of his ability and character.

Vote for David I. Walsh

Senator David I. Walsh is a fearless, unbiased representative of the people.

During his six years at Washington he has championed the cause of the public at all times.

He has maintained his independence of action regardless of pressure.

He is one of the ablest Senators Massachusetts has ever had.

His honesty is unquestionable.

He is liberal and non-partisan.

He knows what the common people want.

He is young, vigorous and alert.

He is still bitterly fighting the coal barons.

Massachusetts needs to keep him on guard in the Senate.

Re-elect David I. Walsh today as junior Senator from Massachusetts.

At Home It's Different

France Shows It

The other day at Geneva, France and others in the League were sympathizing quite tearfully with Japan. They supported the Japanese view that United States refusal to permit Asiatic immigration might justly be made a cause of war—with the League of Nations backing that war.

That little incident is over, and now the wise French Government, which, very properly, works only for Frenchmen, announces that in France immigration and aliens are to be STRICTLY REGULATED.

There will be "sanitary posts" on the French frontiers. Aliens will be examined by doctors, and this program of strict government control of foreigners is to be effected at the foreigners' expense.

That's PRACTICAL, and you can be quite sure that the French won't allow the Japanese to interfere with THAT.

Interference with the United States is all right, for this is only a nation of "grocery store keepers," in the opinion of many European nations. To inspire respect, we need the world's greatest fleet of fighting airships. Talk that over with your friends.

A New Way to Kill

Man's Fertile Mind

How many ways do you think men have invented for killing wives of whom they are jealous?

Poison, knife, bullet, axe, strangling, in Othello fashion, killing with elephants, after the fashion of the Indian rajah—a thousand other ways.

Frank Barnhard, on the Canadian side of Niagara Falls, hit upon a new idea, according to the police. He watched, sitting in his car, until he saw his wife, who had left him, walking with Smyley Muirhead, of whom he was jealous. Stepping on the gas, he aimed his car at the couple, killed Muirhead, and seriously injured his wife. That was his second attempt. He had been following them and had previously tried and failed.

That story of a modern killing illustrates the best answer to the question, "What is evil?" Evil is the perversion of something that in itself is good. Then jealousy, a world-wide evil, is the perversion of love, which is a good thing in itself. And Barnhard's automobile, an excellent thing in itself, became "evil" when put to a perverted use.

TEXT OF THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Is it desirable that the general court ratify the following proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States:

"Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

"Section 2. The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress"?

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS—

By HELEN ROWLAND

How long, oh thou Simple One, will thou continue to seek vainly for a man who is "different"?

For he Adam was the original man—and since him, there hath been no other.

Behold, one man's words are as elusive as another's; one man's promises as brittle as another's; one man's memory is as short as another's; one man's lie is as smooth as another's; one man's chin as rough as another's, and one man's kiss as disappointing as another's.

Hearken then, unto me, for I have known many men, in many lands, and in many moods—yet, only these have I found:

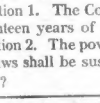
Those who play the caveman, and those who play the platonic friend; but the play ardents always in the same old love-scene.

Those who bore a woman to death—and those who worry her to death.

The who suspect that every woman is in love with them—and those who are SURE of it.

Those who pursue women—and those who know how to make women pursue THEM.

Those who want to be babied—and those who demand to be worshipped.



Helen Rowland.

Those who will promise a woman anything—and those who are more cautious than a lawyer and more non-committal than a doctor.

Those whose love-making exceeds an express train—and those who are slower than freight.

Those who talk of mental companionship—and those who kiss a damsel without this waste of time.

Those who brilliantine their hair—and those who have no hair to brilliantine.

Those who have travelled the primrose path—and those who have not yet had the courage to start.

Those who want nonsense—and those who demand incense.

Those who keep a damsel waiting—and those who NEVER arrive.

Those who tell these how wonderful thou art—and those who tell thee how wonderful THEY are.

Those who think themselves irresistible—and those who know it.

Those who need mothering—and those who need bullying; but all of them require watching.

Those who try to kiss a damsel at the first opportunity, those who keep her guessing, and those who fool her and never try at all.

Those whom thou shouldst marry, those whom thou desirest to marry, and those whom thou CANST marry.

And whichsoever of these thou dearest, my Beloved, thou shalt wish thou hadst drawn the OTHER kind.

SELAH.

Mother Not Strong

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a boy 14 years of age and both my brother and I are in great need of Winter clothes, such as Winter coats, underwear, shoes, sizes 13½ and 8½. My mother works hard but she has all she can do to pay the rent. She needs a coat and a dress for work and wears size 32. She is small and not very strong. FRED P.

For Girl of 14

Helping Hand Editor:

I have some clothing that might help out a girl fourteen or so that I will gladly send to some needy person. MRS. B. L. R.

Many thanks, Mrs. E. M. S., mother of eight children, one a girl around the age you mention, will be so pleased to get this clothing. We are sending you her address.

Can Make Over Things

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if you could help me? I am fourteen years old and have four younger brothers, ten, eight, five and two and a half years of age. I wish someone had a mackinaw or sweater they could give me, and if you know of anyone who has a sewing machine for my mother please remember her, as she can make over things.

WARREN R.

Wants House on Farm

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if there is among your kind readers someone who has a farm in Massachusetts on which there is a small house I could hire cheap for a home for self and four grandchildren. Girl 12, three boys, 15, 18, 20. The oldest is away most of the time. The youngest would like to work on the farm, where I would like to help with the housework, the pay to go towards my rent. I am a widow, seventy years of age, but am called smart and capable. I can give very best of references. A. S.

Please Send Address

F. C., seventeen-year-old girl, who wants to continue schooling, please send street address.

Clothes Offered

Helping Hand Editor:

I have a Winter coat, some dresses, etc., to fit a girl about twelve or thirteen years old, so please send me an address of a family who is in need of same, and they can come and get them.

MRS. A. B. J.

Thank you. We have asked Mrs. M. K. to call for this clothing. She has a girl twelve years of age.

Live in a Camp

Helping Hand Editor:

Would some kind reader give me some warm clothing for my children? My little girl of seven years needs a coat, as does my boy three. I have three children and am expecting the stork soon. I would be so grateful to anyone who would send me some warm nightgowns. I take size 46. My husband takes size 34. I live in a small camp because my husband can't afford the high rents. We live about a mile from the village and have to walk to it and, not being dressed warmly, it is pretty cold I tell you.

MRS. H. R.

Deserted by Husband

Helping Hand Editor:

I hope some of your kind readers will be able to help me to get a few things which I can never get, as the only money I have in the world is what I get each week for our food and rent. My husband deserted me when my baby was an infant, and I have brought her up alone. Now she is twenty-two months old. I have two other children, girl seven and boy fourteen years of age. He has just been operated on for appendicitis and is not very strong yet. We don't have enough bed clothing. Last Winter I made quilts out of old old coats and skirts. I will accept clothing, bedding, coal or anything your good readers can spare me. My health is very poor, and I do all my sewing by hand. Do you ever have a sewing machine offered to one needy like myself? L. S.

WHAT TO CARRY ON A MOTOR TRIP

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The first thing you want to do when getting ready for a motor trip is to take Eva Tanguay's motto, polish it up, and pack it carefully in your old kit-bag right where you can find it when you need it. (Not when you want it. You'll need it lots of times when you don't want it.) That motto is:

"I don't care."

Because if you're going to care you'd better stay home.

When you've everything ready to start and are planning to get away bright and early, while the dew is on the gowan, and all that sort of thing, and there's no traffic, so that you can let her out a little and see if she will make that fifty miles an hour easy, as the automobile salesman said she would (she, of course, referring to the mass of machinery in which you have invested more than you should), and then Genevieve doesn't turn up for an hour, and keeps everybody waiting, just because she had the Blue Book, and lost it, of course, and finally found it over to Eva's, where she left it when she went there to see if Eva had a veil she could spare (left it lying right on the telephone-table in the dining-room, of all places!), and then something else happens, and something else, until you don't get away till noon, why, just lean back and laugh, and say out loud:

"I don't care."

Because that's really the only way to enjoy your trip. When you travel you want to look for the unexpected. That's what you travel for. You get enough of the expected at the office.

Just be happy. Whatever comes to pass, make a joke of it.

Suppose the kicker in the party conceives and expresses a violent dislike to your twelve-cylinder Bohunkus car, and keeps telling you how much better the Ritz-Diavolo is, say:

"I don't care."

And suppose you do break a spring and have to wait four hours while a new one is being put in, or there's a leak in the gasoline tube, or something gets the matter with the carburetor, or the wrist-pins, or the pet-cock, or the tire, or the brake, or the jewhillykus fails to catch in the thingumbob, so that you have to stay half a day in the swift village of Podunk, when you wanted to reach Boston or Winnipeg or Asheville or some other seaport that night, to meet the Perkinses, why, smile, consarn you! smile, and say:

"I don't care."

Do this. And no matter what happens, or fails to happen, no matter about the weather, no matter what mischief the fates contrive, no matter what outlandish disorders may develop in the works under the hood, and no matter how cantankerous any members of the party become, you'll have a good time.

For the one and only panacea, vade mecum and sine qua non to take along in a motor trip is:

"I don't care."

BIRDS OF OLD CAUGHT BY 'TAR TRAPS'

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

SEARCHING California "tar traps" is like discovering the lost chapters of Livy's "History of Rome." If we gain no essentially new knowledge, we are not the less fascinated by reading the story "in the original."

But the California history sweeps us back into the geological ages. Its historic monuments are bones and mummified fossils, some of which are perhaps a hundred times more ancient than the Egyptian Sphinx. Yet it does not carry us beyond the probable date of the first human being on the earth.

These tar traps, composed of petroleum whose volatile constituents have all flown away into the air, leaving only a "a black, viscous, asphaltic tar," are the strangest crowded tombs of birds and four-footed animals that lived in the Pleistocene era, when the great ice sheet to come down from the north, and, after staying thousands of years, retreat only to come back again to stay other thousands of years.

These "seepages and springs of petroleum from subterranean sources" have, in the opinion of G. Dallas Hanna of the California Academy of Sciences, existed since early Pleistocene times, and many of them are "alive" today, forming "slow moving streams with occasional pools of considerable size. The brilliant, mirror-like surface of the substance looks strikingly like placid water, and in this way has fooled the animals of the region for a geological period.

The tar traps at Rancho la Brea have become famous within a few years for the remains of extinct birds and mammals that they contain, presenting a chapter of evolutionary history as realistic as an herbarium, and covering perhaps hundreds of thousands of years.

The imagination of the geologist pictures the animals and birds, attracted and deceived by the glint of the ancient sunshine reflected from the smooth surfaces of the treacherous tar, plunging into the seeming water for a cool bath, or expecting to float upon it, only to find themselves hopelessly caught, and slowly sucked down into the black depths of the pool.

Mr. Hanna says there are other tar deposits in California which may rival the famous one of Rancho la Brea as prehistoric traps. One in Kern County surprised him by the enormous numbers of insects preserved beside the bones of extinct mammals.

Most of those that he saw in a hasty examination were beetles, wonderfully preserved, the waves of sunlight still breaking into iridescence upon some parts of their bodies. He calls the attention of entomologists to these deposits from which so much may be learned by comparing the Pleistocene insect fauna of the region with birds and mammals.

Describing his investigation in Science, he says: "It would be well to add that the tar is just as effective in the capture of organisms today as it has ever been. In one canyon where there was a 'live' seepage, a small pool of tar, not more than a dozen feet across, was so thickly besmeared with a species of large water beetle that a manufacturer of flypaper would certainly look upon the sight with envy. In some places there is, therefore, in all probability, a practically continuous accumulation from at least the early Pleistocene to the present time."

What a treasure of science would be a tar-embalmed representative of the human species, a thousand centuries old, displayed in a museum beside one of the Pharaohs, mummified but yesterday!

ONCE-OVERS

YOU MUST MAKE PROGRESS TO HOLD YOUR JOB PERMANENTLY

You feel pretty sure and snug in your job, eh?

You've been with the firm for years and have learned what your boss likes. You keep on doing your work in the same old way without effort to learn a better, more modern way.

What if there should be a change in the firm? How would you stand under a new management?

Might it not happen that your meager knowledge and lack of progress would slate you for the rubbish heap?

Such things happen every day.

Under a new management, the old "stand-bys" of the business are discharged if they do not show progress.

You cannot expect sentiment in business.

You must stand on your merits. Therefore, it behooves you to be up and active all the time.

There is always progress in every line, so keep up with it.
